$1 Million Lottery Winner Convicted of Stealing from Elderly Customers

BY JAYNE W. MILLER
News Editor

LOWELL - The owner of a Chelmsford oil service company pleaded guilty for taking deposits from clients for work and repairs that were never performed, Middlesex District Attorney Gerry Leone announced this week. The Crier wrote an expose last February highlighting local elderly residents scammed by the heating company owner who apparently used his profession to bilk victims out of cash to cover up an alleged gambling problem.

According to District Attorney Gerry Leone, Michael Santaniello, 60, of Chelmsford, pleaded guilty in Lowell District Court to charges of larceny over $250 from a person over 60 years of age (4 counts), larceny over $250 (6 counts), larceny by check over $250, larceny over $250 by false pretenses, and failure to return leased personalty (personal, mov-

Tragic death of Wilmington teen

Grief specialists on hand this week to help students cope

BY DAN HALL
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - Joseph Murphy—forever beloved for his smile and pleasant attitude—tragically passed away over the long weekend. Joseph was a senior at Wilmington High School. He was well liked and always brightened the mood of any classroom. His death has brought sadness to the Wilmington High School community, and the school administration has dealt with this by having guidance counselors and grief specialists available all day to speak with students. Teachers were told warning signs to look out for in students and were instructed to send any students displaying these signs to guidance counselors and social workers made available in school for the grieving student body.

When asked to describe Joseph, the word most commonly used was personable, followed by the mentioning of his tremendous heart and even larger smile. Dylan Dinatale, who shared an English class with Joseph, commented that "The thing that you would always remember about Joe was his huge smile. You just never could catch him with a frown on his face." Dinatale went on to mention how different that class would feel without Joseph's smiling face and positive attitude.

A staff member at the High School mentioned that Joe was a "Pleasant and kind student" who would always be willing to lend a hand and help out those in need. This staff member commented that the atmosphere at the high school was extremely somber and heavy-hearted.

A letter distributed earlier this week to the parents of students at the high school detailed advice on how to deal with grief experienced by the passing of a classmate. Parents were told that grief could come in many forms, and may express itself as anxiety, anger, depression, withdrawal, or frustration. Parents who detected these emotions in their children are encouraged to let their students know that this is a natural part of the process, to listen closely to their children, and to advise their sons and daughters to talk to their guidance counselors if they need to.

Funeral services are detailed on page 8 of today's paper. Many students and faculty members are expected to attend. Guidance counselors and social workers from the High School and Middle School will remain on site for the next few days in order to be available for grieving students.

Caleb Eames House sold

Series of owners figure prominently in Wilmington history

BY MARCY RAGUCCI
Staff Writer

WILMINGTON - The property located at 400 Woburn Street in Wilmington known as the Caleb Eames House was sold on December 20, 2012 for $372,000. While information about the history of this property and the Eames family derived from a variety of sources and records are somewhat confusing, the fact remains that this property and the extremely large Eames family played an undeniable role in the history of Wilmington.

Though the house was believed to have been built around 1790, in November of 1977 a Wilmington Historical Commission report lists Timothy Foster, who called himself a house-wright (a builder of wooden houses or a carpenter) as the original owner.

According to this report, "One of several hip-roofed Federalist style houses in Wilmington, the Caleb Eames House is unusual both for its broad proportions and for its nearly flat hip roof. The origins of the house are somewhat confused by the failure of deeds to give property

Baldwin Apple goes postal

By DAN HALL
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - Wilmington is an historic town. Men from Wilmington fought at key battles in the Revolutionary War. Wilmington was home to Phyllis Wheatley, the first published African American poet. Wilmington was a stop along the Underground Railroad, used by escaped slaves on their sojourn north to Canadian freedom. And perhaps most notable, Wilmington is home to the Baldwin Apple, a particularly juicy and delicious variety of apple. This final piece of Wilmington historic lore soon will be immortalized in the form of a US postage stamp.

A series of stamps based on apples popular in different regions—regions as disparate as West Virginia, New York, Washington State and Massachusetts—will feature Wilmington's own Baldwin apple. The apple's discovery is attributed to Woburn's Colonel Loammi Baldwin, a Revolutionary War era soldier and politician who is thought to have spread the apple around New England thereby increasing its popularity. The apple is prized for its delicious flavor, and is particularly desired for its use in the production of cider.

According to the US postal service, customers have 60 days to obtain the first-day-of-issue postmark by mail. They may purchase new stamps at their local Post Office, at usps.com/stamps, or by calling 800-STAMP-24 (800-782-6724). They should affix the stamps to envelopes of their choice, address the envelopes to themselves or others, and place them in a larger envelope addressed to:

Apples Stamps
U.S. Postal Service
205 W. Washington Ave.
Yakima, WA 98903-9998

After applying the first-day-of-issue postmark, the Postal Service will return the envelopes through the mail. There is no charge for the postmark. All orders must be postmarked by March 17, 2013.

Ordering First-Day Covers
The Postal Service also offers first-day covers for new stamp issues and Postal Service stationery items postmarked with the official first-day-of-issue cancellation. Each item has an individual catalog number and is offered in the quarterly USA Philatelic catalog, online at usps.com/shop or by calling 800-782-6724.

WHS Alumni from WWII

Where were they in '45?

By LARZ F. NEILSON

In the Wilmington High School yearbook of 1944-1945, there were three pages of alumni notes, noteworthy for the many graduates of WHS who were involved in the war. It is by no means a complete listing, but it is extensive.

The war was ending at the time the yearbook was published, and many young people had entered the service. The war officially ended in Europe on May 8, 1945 and on August 15, 1945 in the Pacific.

The yearbook was dedicated to Elmer Drew, who died on June 6, 1944 at age 17, in the D-Day invasion of France. It was also dedicated to Dorothy Gwinnell, who died of illness.

The listing included two men who were prisoners of war. Leonard Drew, in the Class of 1936, was a brother of Elmer Drew, mentioned above. He and Sgt. Ernest Cail were both listed as being prisoners "somewhere in Germany." They both returned home safely.

The first two alumni listed in the service, chronologically, were Sylvia and Bernice Neilson. Sylvia, a member of the WHS Class of 1929, was a teacher at the high school before enlisting in the Women's Army Corps (WAC) in early 1942. She is listed as a First Lieutenant, teaching at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. She eventually retired as a Major in 1957.

Her sister, Bernice Neilson, class of 1934, was also a First Lieutenant, serving in the Army Nurse Corps, somewhere in the Mariana Islands.

In the Class of 1937, Alfred

Lynch was at Framingham Hospital, being treated for wounds received in action.

Dorothy Stewart was a sergeant in the Women's Army Corps, stationed in Hearnsey, Nebraska.

First Sgt. Frank Hadley served four years in the South Pacific, was then stationed in Montgomery, Alabama.

Donald Carter, in the Class of 1938, was serving in the Army in the Parachute Corps.

Frederic Melzar was serving aboard the submarine USS Sea Robin in the South Pacific. In the 1950s, he was a member of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen.

Marjorie Patch was a private in the Women's Army Corps.

Chester Szupello, Class of 1939, was a third class petty officer stationed in Havana.

Aviation Cadet Steven J. Pilcher was an aviation cadet in the Navy at Pensacola, Florida. After the war, he was killed in a plane crash in Wilmington, off Burlington Avenue. He was a member of the Class of 1940.

Thomas Fleming was in the Fifth Army "somewhere in Italy."

In the Class of 1941, Eryll Stewart was attending Tufts College at the Naval Radio Operating Training Center, under the V-12 program.

Vada Ainsworth was waiting to be called into the Navy Nurse Corps. She graduated from Lawrence Hospital in Medford, after which taught cadet nurses.

Daryl Grant was serving in the Naval Air Corps as a bomber pilot in the Pacific arena.

Elliott Melzar was a chief engineer aboard the USS Stag, a water distilling ship, somewhere in the South Pacific.

Wendell Irvine was an ensign in the Navy, stationed in Florida.

Thomas Holmes was an ensign in the Navy Air Corps.

George Frotten was serving in the Navy, somewhere in the Pacific.

Herbert Higginbotham was a Second Lieutenant in the Army Air Force, stationed in Texas. While overseas, his plane was forced down in Sweden. He remained there for six months, after which he was released.

Bennett Bedell was a private in the Quartermaster Corps, somewhere in Europe.

Donald Oman, after serving many months in the Pacific, was stationed in Florida, in the service of the Navy.

Edward Burns, a member of the Class of 1943, was serving in the Marine Corps.

Sgt. Nelson Huntley completed 35 missions over Germany as a gunner in the Army, and was studying to be a pilot in Texas.

Louis Tarricone was in the Navy, serving aboard an ammunition ship in the South Pacific.

Richard Mills was a torpedoman on a destroyer escort in the European Theater.

Doris Carter was serving in the WAVES.

Barbara Higginbotham was in Melrose, training to be a cadet nurse.

Robert Pilcher was serving as a signalman in the Navy in the Atlantic War Zone.

Kenneth Ward, from the Class of 1944, was serving as a yeoman in the Navy, stationed in California.

Bob Cavanaugh was in California in the Navy. He attended Purdue University after completing basic training, and graduated March 6, 1945.

Donald Anderson was serving in Army infantry, waiting to be sent overseas.

Charles Ellsworth was a cook on a Navy cruiser. He made one trip to South America.

John Ritchie was in the Army, stationed in Florida. Ritchie and Ellsworth both later became police officers in Wilmington. Ritchie was also the WHS football coach. Ellsworth later became a state police detective.

In the 1941 yearbook, Ritchie had said for his ambition: "To kill Hitler." Leo O'Connell and Frank Miller were both serving in the Navy.

John O'Leary was serving overseas in the Seventh Army.

William Irwin was a radio gunner on a B-25 in the Army Air Corps.

James H. White was in the Navy in the Construction Battalion, stationed in Rhode Island.

There were many other Wilmington alumni who served in the war. The list presented information collected locally. There was no comprehensive list of all servicemen available.

The yearbook list also included other alumni who were not in the service. First on the list was Mrs. George Webber, who graduated in 1921. She taught business subjects for many years at WHS.

Molly Brule completes service trip to Guatemala

By DAN HALL
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - Latin America, known for its lush rainforests and sunny beaches, is also known for its desperate, sometimes crushing, poverty. Many people hear of this in the news or on television specials, but it takes a special type of person to get up close and personal with this sort of issue. That sort of person is Molly Brule, a 2009 graduate of Wilmington High School and senior nursing student at St. Joseph's College in Maine, who recently completed a service trip to Guatemala.

Traveling to a small hamlet three and a half hours west of Guatemala City, Molly was immersed in the rural and impoverished world of the Latin American village. While this was a trip that already denied expectation, Molly would further be surprised by what she witnessed.

Guatemala, the second poorest country in the Western Hemisphere, is a nation deeply in need. Yet despite the dire circumstances, Molly Brule noticed that the Guatemalan people seemed to be extremely happy. She commented on the friendly demeanor and warm appreciation she and her fellow student volunteers received upon arrival, going into detail concerning the feeling of village-as-family. However, Molly did not fly to the tropics in order to feel the familial tenderness of Guatemala. She came to do work.

Molly and 23 other volunteers did some serious work while on their winter break. In just one week, they built a house, dug a latrine with running water that would be used by four different families, and put on a medical clinic that provided free healthcare to villagers. Molly was able to fine tune her nursing skills, encountering many problems that do not exist in America thanks to access to healthcare. The huge demand for medical attention also kept her busy, while providing extremely valuable experience. A youth camp taught fundamentals of English, played soccer, and created fun and creative arts and crafts for the village youth as well.

Molly, no stranger to the developing world after another service trip to Haiti last year, expects to return in the future. With a promising career in nursing and an interest in healthcare in the developing world, Molly hopes to become a travel nurse and continue her forays into underprivileged nations to provide healthcare. She calls this trip unforgettable and beyond explanation.

Letters to the editor

Bipartisanship coverage a win for all

To the Editor,

Thank you for the wonderful article "Ms. Johnson Goes to Washington" in The Town Crier of 1/16/13. It is so encouraging to hear of such students, and quite appropriate for our newspaper to celebrate her spirit, intelligence and vision for the future. It's important, too, for the person being celebrated to understand the importance of her mission, her energy, and her persistence.

And thanks for being a "bipartisan" paper in a heavily Republican town! There are but a few of us Democrats hearabouts, and we enjoy hearing about "our own" from time to time.

This is my first letter-to-the-editor of The Town Crier, so let me say that my wife and I always enjoy the paper. Please keep up the good work.

Sincerely,
Peter Cain

Local Bank Supports Cooperative Elder Services

Dear Editor,
Cooperative Elder Services, Inc., a local Adult Day Health and Alzheimer's Care organization, would like to thank Stoneham Savings - Salem Five Charitable Foundation for their recent donation of $1,000 to benefit the Hot Meals Program. Their generous contribution will help cover the cost of essential nutrition for frail elders from Stoneham, Burlington, Woburn, Billerica, Wilmington and other communities. Cooperative Elder Services in Burlington is open Monday through Friday, from 8:00am - 4:00pm, and provides a light breakfast, full hot lunch and afternoon snack, daily nursing care, socialization and meaningful activities, door-to-door transportation and caregiver support. Our mission is to help frail elders remain in their homes and the community for as long as possible. If you would like to schedule a visit or find out more information, contact Arlene Parillo at 781-270-5751 or visit www.elderdayservices.com

Radon Awareness

To the editor:

January is National Radon Action Month and the American Lung Association would like to raise awareness of how radon can affect your lung health. Many may not be aware of what exactly radon is; radon is a colorless, tasteless and odorless gas that is found in soil and forms radioactive by-products which eventually can damage tissue inside your lungs and cause lung cancer. Radon enters your home, school, or office building through cracks in the foundation or even through pipes and/or the water supply. People who have private wells are more at risk than people with community water supply. Prolonged radon exposure is the second leading cause of lung cancer after smoking. There are countless health risks to those living inside a home with high levels of radon. According to EPA, smoking combined with radon exposure is considered a severe health risk.

Testing your home is the best way to find out whether you are being exposed to high levels of radon. The Lung Association sells radon kits for only $12. They are available at www.LungNE.org/products or by calling 1-800-LUNG-USA.

Sincerely,
Jeff Seyler, President & CEO

The Real Obama emerges again

by Jill Stein

Thanks to the budget deal, Obama's second term is starting with more of the same disappointments.

If you're having political déjà vu as Obama's second term in the White House gets underway, you're not alone.

The supposedly populist candidate — who won re-election promising to tax the rich, protect Social Security, and make the economy fair — has morphed back into an invaluable ally of the economic elite. Yet again, he's willing to let you fall under the bus.

In carving out 2013's first round of self-inflicted budget pain, President Barack Obama has laid the groundwork for much worse to come. By making most Bush tax cuts permanent, he gave away the massive bargaining chip he could have used to protect safety net programs in the next negotiating round. Now, thanks to his pre-emptive capitulation, austerity advocates hold all the cards.

While the deal extends unemployment insurance, this temporary relief is overwhelmed by massive, permanent gifts to the super-rich. Estate taxes have been repealed for all but the wealthiest 0.1 percent with a whopping $10.5 million per couple exemption. The agreement also locks in low capital gains and dividends rates of 15-20 percent, ensuring that billionaire bosses everywhere will pay lower tax rates than their secretaries.

Among new corporate favors, the deal retained one of the loopholes that multinational firms are using to dodge taxes on their foreign subsidiaries — an incentive to export jobs that cost us $1.1 billion in 2012. Meanwhile, vulnerable workers are hit with a big increase in Social Security payroll taxes, as rates revert to 2010 levels.

The fig leaf Obama provided to cover this surrender is a token tax increase on wealthy households earning over $450,000 per year. This marks a brazen retreat from his promise to raise taxes on those earning over $250,000, a meager reform to begin with in a tax system already rife with favors for the rich.

In this past round of budget bargaining, Obama proposed alarming cuts to key safety net programs that will be considered in upcoming negotiations. This tossed aside another key promise: to protect Social Security. It comes as nearly half of Americans are either low-income or living in poverty, and one in three seniors relies on Social Security to stay out of poverty.

Obama also offered to slash needed reductions in bloated military spending from $500 billion over 10 years, the amount included in the 2011 budget deal, to a mere $100 billion.

Obama's abandonment of his progressive base repeats 2008 post-election history, when the hope-and-change candidate suddenly devolved into a fearless defender of economic privilege. His early White House appointments of Wall Street darlings Larry Summers and Timothy Geithner were followed, with breath-taking irony, by the naming of General Electric CEO Jeffrey Immelt, America's leader in layoffs, to head the jobs council.

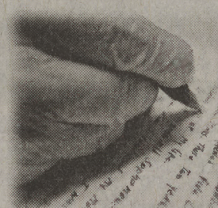

Team Obama then led the charge for trillions in Wall Street bailouts, corporate-driven trade agreements that send jobs overseas and depress U.S. wages, health care reform that locked public options out of the debate, drill-baby-drill energy policies, the sabotage of international climate accords, foreclosure neglect, surging immigrant deportations, drone attacks, assaults on civil liberties, and more.

As Obama's second term begins, he's again undermining the progressive base, paving the way for more austerity, disparities, war and corporate power.

Washington's failure to deal justly and effectively with the fake fiscal cliff calamity leaves little hope it will resolve the real looming crises — the unraveling economy and accelerating climate catastrophe. The enormity of these threats compel solutions of equal magnitude — like the Green New Deal I promoted as the Green Party's presidential candidate in 2012. It would obliterate the fiscal cliff while putting America back to work, greening the economy, cutting the oversized military, saving trillions through Medicare for All, and taxing the wealthy.

Fortunately, grassroots movements and non-corporate political parties have begun to lead the way. It's time to join them while we still can, putting our voices, bodies, and votes behind real solutions that can truly deliver a peaceful, just, green future for us all.

Jill Stein won half a million votes as the Green Party's presidential candidate in 2012. JillStein.org

Silencing American Heroes

Dear Editor,

"Where have all the heroes gone?" Relax, because they are still here. You may have a relative or a neighbor living next door that has performed heroic acts above and beyond all expectations. Writing this heart felt message is an opportunity to change a minus into a plus.

Sadly, heroes have been silenced by political correctness and convinced that it may be best to leave the past in the past. The anti-war crowd, political correctness groups and in some cases people that did not serve for one reason or another joined the crowd of silence. Some thought that by destroying heroes we would move one step closer toward ending all wars, as though the U.S had started the wars. These brave soldiers and their families were made to feel guilty when discussing their war experiences. Our heroes were never allowed to expose their nightmares and begin the healing process. They were forced to follow the code of silence when they needed family and friends to understand what they had been through; freeing their minds from the secrets of the past. Soon the code of silence appeared normal.

The reality is it's time for change. I'm tired of hearing from the radicals each day whining about the country they hate. Americans need to hear from their finest, heroes that were stolen from us by these radical groups.

Heroes from the past are in demand today more than ever before.

Today we must call on our heroes once again urging them to tell their story.

Heroes returning from WWII, Korea and Vietnam have inspired people like me throughout life making life so much easier, encouraging me to take risks that I may not otherwise have taken.

My first encounter with heroes was at the age of five where my father was a paraplegic at Cushing V.A. Hospital. Heroes surrounded my family for nearly ten years, it was a powerful experience. Today I know how real heroes respond in difficult situations.

Our veterans are not getting any younger. Talk with family members when you are alone with them. Ask if they would like to discuss their war experiences with you.

- Choose the right time.
- Don't ask if you don't care.
- Be alone with your hero, give your full attention, don't be washing dishes or sending text messages.
- Know when to back off. Possibly try at a different time.

Heroes need to get their story out before it is too late. This conversation will not remove the scars they wear, but it will bring some sense of peace. They will never die as long as their story is told and inspiring others.

I have been there and been honored by those conversations and seen the results of our conversations. If I had missed this great opportunity in my life the heroic stories of great heroes would have died with them; since family and other soldiers serving side by side have begun a new chapter over the horizon and on the other side of Heaven's Gate. It's an opportunity to change a minus into a plus.

God bless America and all those that serve.

Savings sought between healthcare plans

Dear Editor:

Let me start by saying that I in fact do believe in Universal Health Care. That being said, I want to pose a question I have. Massachusetts is unique in that we are the only State that has Universal Health Care for our residents. Going forward when National Health Care fully takes effect in 2014, I need to know what plan the State Legislature has to address duplications between both efforts.

Is the State going to modify their plan to compliment the National Plan? Are they going to repeal the State plan so that everyone will come under the Federal Plan? More importantly, what are the savings at the State level that will be recognized with some of these duplications? We are being told that 40% of Massachusetts costs are associated with health costs. I worked over 40 years in the finance business and can tell you there should be substantial savings at the State level because of this national effort. It is time the State Legislature and Governor became pro-active and looked at this from a financial standpoint.

I truly believe that National Health Care is a good thing but I also believe, before the Governor asks for additional taxes, he needs to address potential cost saving efforts in earnest.

Sincerely yours,

Jerry Selissen
Tewksbury, MA.

Tewksbury Hospital Public Health Museum to Reopen

It's a Public Health Party — and you're invited

The Public Health Museum is housed in the Old Administration Building, a Queen Anne style structure designed by John A. Fox.

Courtesy Tewksbury State Hospital

TEWKSBURY - Wednesday, January 30, 4-7 p.m., the Museum of Public Health invites the public to a FREE Museum Opening and Celebration. Come to the Public Health Museum at the historic Tewksbury Hospital, 365 East Street, Tewksbury, rain or shine. Meet your neighbors, members of the public health community, and Museum staff and Board. Enjoy complimentary refreshments and the opportunity to become a Museum member. Fascinating objects abound, including a vintage iron lung, antique dentist office equipment, blood-letting tools, "insane asylum" patient restraints, and rare documents.

"The Museum provides an extraordinary ambiance and setting to better understand the evolution of public health. Some of the equipment and ideas that may seem gruesome to us now were actually improvements to what had been previous standards of care. Dating from 1854, Tewksbury Hospital is an excellent site for America's first public health museum."

The Public Health Museum is housed in the "Old Administration Building", an 1894 Queen Anne style building designed by John A. Fox.

The party includes features a short presentation at 5:30 p.m. and the opportunity to meet the exhibit's visiting curators Leena Akhtar, Lisa Haushofer, and Cara Kiernan Fallon, PhD candidates from Harvard University's History of Science Department. Following the event, the Museum reopens to visitors 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Wednesdays, Thursdays, and the first Saturday of the month, and by appointment. Regular Museum admission is $5 for ages 6 and up and free for members and children under 6. The museum is wheelchair accessible and stroller parking is available. Leave about an hour for a fascinating guided tour, included with admission. Call 978-851-7321 x 2606 to make group tour arrangements or to confirm tour availability at a particular time.

In addition to serving as a cultural and education center for the public, the Museum hosts conferences for the public health community and health professionals. "Our mission includes providing a forum for today's key issues in public health," says Dr. Domoto. "We are in a moment in history where we are exploring the ethical balance between the rights of the individual to make personal health decisions versus the health needs of the community at large."

Making health history is patient of the nineteenth century was Anne Sullivan, who later became the tutor and companion of Helen Keller. A sculpture of the pair by Mico Kaufman stands at the Tewksbury Town Hall.

The Public Health Museum was incorporated in 1994 and open to the public through July, 2012 when it closed to allow for a major renovation of the exhibits. We now celebrate that achievement, sponsored by Mass Humanities, the state-based affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

not new to Massachusetts. Did you know America's first board of health was established in 1796 in Boston, and Paul Revere was its first president? Learn more about the prominent role of Massachusetts in public health history at the celebration. The most famous ure of the Museum's collection is an original paper by Lemuel Shattuck, The Sanitary Report of 1850, regarded to be the most important public health document in history. And don't miss the well-preserved WPA murals by artists W. Lester Stevens, Maurice Compris and Samuel Hershey. This event represents an opportunity to celebrate a unique Massachusetts resource, located in Tewksbury. For more information visit www.publichealthmuseum.org

May Chapter 2013 begin with "I love you"

... to each of the ones you hold dear. Who support you, who believe in you. Who love you through the dark, and through the light. Spread "I love you" wherever you go. And let's make this chapter the best of our lives.

Your Two Cents...

Game saved (though not by Brady)

A big thank you to the Wilmington Police Department, the Public Works Department and Reading Municipal Light Department for their quick response to a downed tree and loss of power on Auburn Ave this morning. Their speedy work returned power and cleared the road in plenty of time to enjoy the Patriots game this evening. Job well done.

Freedom Trail® Scholars visit Shawsheen Elementary in Wilmington

"Lobsterbacks, go home! Lobsterbacks, go home!" chants were heard from down the hall as Shawsheen Elementary School third graders took on roles during their Freedom Trail® Foundation Scholars program on Thursday, January 10. Presented by the Massachusetts Teachers Association in partnership with the Freedom Trail Foundation, this interactive history program helps educate school children in and around Boston and throughout Massachusetts.

The Freedom Trail Scholars program takes our nation's history and fight for freedom to the classroom and has impacted the lives of over 13,000 students. The program provides a one-hour traveling class consisting of two actors taking on multiple roles to bring the major events of the American Revolution in Boston to life. The program incorporates students into the program, letting them interact with the performers, read portions of important documents and declarations, and react to the historic events. A question-and-answer session follows each presentation. Educators also have access to the Freedom Trail Scholars resource guide, which includes lesson plans and quizzes to help evaluate the effectiveness of the program. Designed to match Massachusetts' curriculum standards, it is an effective and fun way to help students learn and remember our history.

Kelly Green, a teacher at the James F. Condon School in Boston said of the program last year, "The fourth and fifth grade students who saw the performance loved it! It was very lively, engaging, and fun! All three topics (Boston Massacre, Tea Party, Paul Revere's Midnight Ride) were seamlessly covered. I would enthusiastically recommend this to another teacher. Thank you very much!"

Thanks to the Massachusetts Teachers Association and the Foundation, the Scholars program will make many exciting visits during the 2012-2013 school year. Additional support comes from John Hancock Financial and the Massachusetts Society of the Cincinnati for the program, and Distigras of Massachusetts, which supports City of Everett Public School visits. Organizations and companies are encouraged to sponsor Scholars program visits to schools in the communities they serve.

For additional information regarding the Scholars program, including school visits and community support, please call The Freedom Trail Foundation's Angie Jepson Marks, Scholars Program Director, at (617) 357-8300, extension 203, or contact her by e-mail at angie@thefreedomtrail.org.

Tewksbury Senior Topics

The Red Hat Craft Activity which was canceled last week due to inclement weather has been rescheduled for this Thursday, January 24th at 2:00 PM. Also, tickets are now available for the Red Hat 9th Anniversary Dinner that will be held on Wednesday, February 20th. The cost is $30 per Belle and includes a family style dinner with the main course being Sirloin and Chicken Francese. Entertainment will follow the meal. The last day to purchase a ticket will be Thursday, February 14th.

As previously noted several meetings have been scheduled for this Friday, January 25th. Senior Center volunteers should note the following times: An Activities Meeting at 10:00 AM; A Snooti Patooti Gift Shop meeting at 1:00 PM; and, A Receptionist Meeting at 2:30 PM. These meetings will be held in the conference room. All are welcome to attend.

DJ Jon Mansfield will be back to the Senior Center on Monday, January 28th. Tickets are now available at $6 per person.

A Senior Center Cootie Party will be held on Monday, February 4th. This is a fun game day and everyone is invited to attend. Don't know how to play...come on down and we'll teach you.

The next Upscale Consignment Shoppe "Intake of Items" Day will be held on Monday, February 4th. Please note the new intake day winter hours which are 2:00 to 6:00 PM.

Tickets are still available for the casino day trip to Foxwood on Wednesday, February 6th. One should note that the trip price is now $25 per person.

The Friends Senior Center Valentine's Dance will be held on Friday, February 8th. The Entertainers Band will provide music for the evening. Tickets are now available at $10 per person. Once again we are seeking those special Tewksbury couples that have been married 50 years or more and never recognized by the Council on Aging and Friends of the Elderly. If you are such a couple or know of a Tewksbury couple married 50 years or more, please submit their name and telephone number to the COA Secretary Jan or to Linda by calling the Center at 978-640-4482. We would love to have them as guests at the Senior Center Valentine's dance. Please note that the last day to submit names will be February 1st.

Due to President's Day holiday, the February MS Support Group will take place on the second Monday, February 11th at 10:00 AM. The public is welcome to these meetings.

Elder Insider will be at the Senior Center on Wednesday, February 13th, to present a free fun seminar on "Organize, De-Clutter & DeStress Your Life!" The seminar will be held from 10 to 11 AM. Please sign-up/RSVP at the Senior Center by dropping by or calling 978-640-4480. This should prove to be a most interesting seminar. The public is welcome.

There are two trips posted on the Senior Center bulletin board with interest lists attached. One is to travel to Boston to watch Ballroom Dancing competitions for the afternoon. The cost would be around $18. The second interest list is for Sunday, March 17th for the afternoon performance of the Young@Heart singing group...a Senior Citizen group that has travel around the world performing. This last trip is estimated to be around $40 and will be held in Worcester, MA. If interested, please place your name on the list keeping in mind that the earlier tickets are purchased from the venue, the better the seats.

Our AARP Tax Assistance Volunteers will be back again this February to assist Seniors with their tax returns. We will begin to accept names right after the New Years. However, as noted, the volunteers will not begin until February. The normal routine is that one signs up at the Senior Center, the volunteers give us dates that they are available and the Director or the COA Secretary will call people to set up appointments. The office then sends out a confirmation of your appointment and a listing of what documentation you need to bring with you.

A pleasant week is wished to all. God Bless America.

Irene M. (Sharp) Brennan

Wilmington teacher; Guidance Counselor; cake maker; Wilmington "Good Guy" 1991

WILMINGTON - Irene M. (Sharp) Brennan, fondly known as Auntie I to most of Wilmington, died peacefully at the Winchester Hospital on January 17, 2013, at the age of 91.

Irene Margaret Louise (Sharp) Brennan, came into this world on January 6, 1922 in Charlestown; she was the cherished daughter of Edmund and Alice (Finn) Sharp. She spoke so fondly of growing up in Charlestown, attending St. Francis de Sales school, remembering each and every nun that had an impact on her life.

Auntie I's maiden name Irene Margaret Sharp or as she would put it I.M. Sharp which sums up her intelligence. Auntie I started kindergarten where she spent 5 days before being promoted to first grade, double promoted again within a couple of years and on the third double promotion her mother had to put a halt to it because she didn't want her 11 year old to be in high school. So she started high school at twelve and graduated not long after her 16th birthday. Auntie I went on to Salem Teachers College, which was not the norm for a girl to attend college in the 1930's earning a bachelor's degree in education; she later went on to earn her master's degree in education from Suffolk University in Boston. She even considered going back to school and getting her Doctorate degree at the mere age of 85. Education was of utmost important to Auntie I, not only for herself but for others, she was a great source of encouragement to everyone to get an education and a great resource to others as to how to go about it.

Auntie I's career started in a summer retreat town known as Wilmington, "the country" for someone from Charlestown. She came to substitute for two weeks and stayed as a teacher and guidance counselor for more than 42 years. Auntie I taught business at Wilmington High School and retired following many years as a guidance counselor at the North Intermediate School. The school department and her students would agree they were lucky to have her. Auntie I always spoke fondly of her zest for teaching and her love for her students which facilitated a wonderful career.

The best interest of the students was top priority for Auntie I; she treated her students with care, loyalty, respect, she had their back when she thought they weren't being treated fairly and she would give them a push when she thought they were lazy, she always wanted them to strive for their best and settle for nothing less. Auntie I gave them her opinion, good or bad, whether they asked for it or not, she helped tirelessly in and out of the classroom, and when she became a guidance counselor she was a source of encouragement and a resource to finding a way to further your education. She helped students get into private high schools, Shawsheen Tech, and countless colleges where acceptance might be questionable. She went the extra mile during the application process to make sure her students had everything they needed and she was just as excited when their acceptance letters arrived.

Auntie I felt very rewarded and lucky to have had the opportunity to be a part of so many lives, to let others know how proud she was of them, to help build self esteem, and in turn she was very well respected and loved by countless students. She would always be so happy to be included in many school reunions over the years and would share with her family the details of the parties and of her former students. It didn't matter if it was your 50th class reunion and you were in your late 60's, by the sounds of her stories you would think you were still 16 years old at Wilmington High School. For all of you that included her in those reunions her family would like you to know how happy you made her.

During summer break from school, Auntie I was the director of the Head Start program, a summer program that gave underprivileged students a head start to learning and fun. She tirelessly rallied for the funding every year to make sure these children had the extra help they needed to succeed in the school year to come. She also planned field trips and special events for the kids to make learning more fun.

Auntie I also ran a summer recreation program in the "Bath House" at Silver Lake's Town Beach where many kids from Wilmington gathered for arts, crafts, and fun.

Auntie I's talents were many, she was active in the minstrel shows and many bazaars at St. Dorothy's Church, directed and choreographed countless plays with the Wilmington High School's drama club; making many of the costumes and sets, and let's not forget her cake decorating, her license plate was "cake lady". Auntie made thousands of wedding, christening, anniversary, birthday, retirement, or any other special occasion cakes, and she did it with a lot of love, never expecting anything but a photo of the cake. Auntie I was also a member of the ISIS Cake Decorating Club.

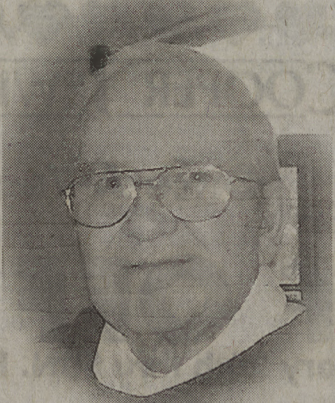

Auntie I had a passion for volunteering and helping others, to help better education she continued to stay active as a member of Merrimack Valley Guidance Association, Mass Association of School Counselors, and the State Alumni Association. Auntie I was active in the Wilmington Women's Club, the Wilmington Figure Skating Club as a former CEO and at the Ristuccia Rink helping with many skating shows over the years; encouraging the skaters and enjoying every minute of it.

Auntie I loved volunteering at AIM every Tuesday where she had lots of friends, in Lodge, where he made many friendships.

Family was the most important thing to Robert. He loved family gatherings and spending time with his children and grandchildren. He loved to take in all the sporting events of the kids, whether it was baseball, football, lacrosse or any other sport. He also enjoyed going camping with them. Robert loved his dogs, Mittens and Sabre, who were also a part of his family. He will truly be missed.

Robert was the beloved husband of the late Elizabeth M. (Lewandowski) Bourassa. He was the loving father of Karen M. Camilli of Acton, Robert O. Bourassa and his wife Deanna of Lynn, Pamela E. Leighton and her husband Michael of Wilmington and Gary J. Bourassa of Lowell. He was the cherished grandfather of Bobby and Allyson

Robert A. Bourassa

Pipe coverer for Union Local 6; member Elks

WILMINGTON - Robert A. Bourassa, age 81, a life-long resident of Wilmington, passed away peacefully on January 17, 2013, at his home. Robert was born in Wilmington on November 5, 1931. He was the son of the late Donat and Marie (Bedard) Bourassa. Robert was raised in Wilmington and graduate of Wilmington High School.

Following high school, Robert joined the United States Army in August of 1952. He proudly served his country during the Korean War. Robert earned the rank of Corporal in the Army. Following his service, he was discharged in 1954 and came back to Wilmington.

Robert returned home where he married the love of his life, Elizabeth, on August 25, 1956. The couple raised her later years she would often be seen on the common during the fourth of July celebrations decorating cookies to be sold to raise money for scholarships.

In her spare time she loved to spend time with her "family" attended each and every special occasion, she held court at Rocco's every Wednesday with her girls, and she loved her newfound friends, happy hour, bingo, and movie night at the Pines in Tewksbury.

Auntie I belonged to many clubs and volunteered for countless organizations, she gave of her time, her talents, and her money, she was like the energizer bunny for a woman of her age, never letting anyone down. Her efforts did not go unnoticed and she was honored with the Wilmington Good Guy Award in 1991 from a community she loved for more than 65 years as a resident and they loved her back.

Auntie will be fondly remembered as a woman of great faith, she loved God, her husband, her family, her extended family, and "her kids" from the town of Wilmington. She left a wonderful legacy of learning and countless friends where ever she went. She will be greatly missed.

Irene was the beloved wife of the late Paul J. Brennan, cherished daughter of the late Edmund J. Sr. and Alice (Finn) Sharp, dear sister of the late Edmund J. Sharp, Jr. and Marie Regina Sharp, sister-in-law of Francis and Ruth Brennan of Westwood and the late Henry "Bud" and Mary Brennan. Auntie I is also survived by her best friend Alice Sullivan of Wilmington, as well as many nieces, nephews, godchildren, and a large and loving extended family.

Family and friends gathered at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Tuesday, January 22nd at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Dorothy's Church. Interment took place in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Memorial donations in Irene's name may be made to Local Heroes, Inc., P. O. Box 136, Wilmington, MA 01887.

Joseph A. Murphy

Talented writer and video editor

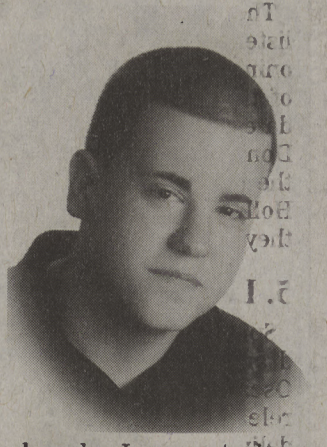

WILMINGTON - Joseph A. Murphy, "Murph", age 17, of Wilmington, died unexpectedly on January 21, 2013, at the Winchester Hospital.

Joe was born on July 6, 1995, in Malden, MA. He was the cherished son of John B. and Paula M. (D'Amico) Murphy. Joe and his family moved to Wilmington in 1999. He was currently a Senior at Wilmington High School. In his early years, Joe loved to play sports; football, hockey, and lacrosse were some of his favorites.

As he matured, Joe's artistic abilities seemed to develop and stand out. Joe was a talented and gifted writer and his artwork was truly wonderful. Joe found his niche as an animated video editor, a hobby that he shared with his brother Dennis and sister Amelia. He looked forward to Dunkin' coffee runs and late night conversations with his sister. He loved music, and prided himself on finding underground artists that had not yet reached popularity. His ability to argue politics with his brother and father was legendary.

Joe will be fondly remembered for his great sense of humor, his free spirit, and his playful nature. He loved to have fun and everyone wanted to be around him. Joe had an endearing personality, a quiet shyness, and a gift of making others feel special. He was not only kind and caring to others; he always had a soft spot for the "underdog".

Joe's family was most important to him. He would often reminisce about his childhood, all the great times together and the countless memories they shared. Joe was truly nostalgic at heart and very sentimental.

Joe will be remembered as a loving son, brother, nephew, cousin, and a true friend. He will be greatly missed.

Besides his parents who survive him, Joe was the loving brother of Amelia and Dennis Murphy all of Wilmington, beloved nephew of Janice Murphy of Chelsea, Stuart Schagrin of Amherst, NH, the late Florence Schagrin and Thomas Murphy. Joe is also survived by his cousins Matthew and Caroline Schagrin, as well as many other dear cousins, his girlfriend Brianna D'Alfonso, and countless friends.

Family and friends will gather for Visiting Hours at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Thursday, January 24th from 3-6 p.m. Immediately followed by a Celebration of Joe's Life at 6:00 p.m. Memorial donations in Joe's name may be made to the Joseph A. Murphy Scholarship Fund, c/o Citizens Bank, 224 Main St., Wilmington, MA 01887, in honor of college bound students with learning disabilities.

The 5 Most Buzzworthy Oscar Films

Use our primer to get ready for the big night

By ANNIE WHITEHOUSE
Special to the Crier

The Oscars are on February 24th this year, and if you're listening to the talk around the water cooler, the day of reckoning comes with heated anticipation this year. 2012 was one of the most controversial years for Oscar nominations to date, and that is reflected in the nominees for Best Picture. Don't want to see all nine? Don't fret: this year, it's all about the top five. These are the films that are causing a stir in Hollywood, the tabloids, and even the U.S. government, and they're still in a theater near you.

5. Lincoln

Spielberg's epic historical drama was set to scoop up Oscars before it was even released. Daniel Day-Lewis delivered a powerhouse performance as our former president, and the supporting cast was solid as a rock. Set to a beautiful John Williams score and penned by award-winning screenwriter John Logan (of the Aviator fame, among others), it was thought to be a shoo-in for Best Picture, and received an impressive 11 nominations. But recent disappointments at the Screen Actors Guild Awards and the Golden Globes are challenging the film's position at the top of the hill. At the very least, Lincoln has the Best Actor race on lock, and Day-Lewis's layered and poignant portrayal of Honest Abe makes the heavy historical biopic worth viewing.

4. Silver Linings Playbook

This darkly insightful rom-com penned and directed by David O. Russell (of the Fighter fame) is receiving a lot of attention for a genre normally brushed aside by the Academy. The film grabbed a spot in every acting category - an impressive feat, as the stars haven't aligned like this in 31 years (for 1981's Red). The praise is well-deserved. 21-year-old Hunger Games star Jennifer Lawrence helms the ship with an incredible performance as the manic widow Tiffany, while Bradley Cooper surprises audiences who know him from The Hangover with the dramatic portrayal of Patrick, a broken man trying to put his life back together. Jacki Weaver and Robert DeNiro deliver (typically) strong performances as Patrick's parents in solid supporting roles. The writing is smart and fast-paced, and in a season full of incredibly dense 3-hour dramas, it's nice to enjoy a fun, fresh movie that still showcases some phenomenal acting.

3. Django Unchained

Quentin Tarantino's hyper-violent spaghetti western throwback has been stirring up controversy since the day production was announced. Set in the pre-Civil War south, Django features Jamie Foxx as an ex-slave-turned-bounty-hunter alongside Tarantino veteran Christoph Waltz, whose well-spoken German character serves to echo the audience's disgust with slavery. While the film boasts a solid 88% on Rotten Tomatoes, some moviegoers complained that the release date was too close to the Sandy Hook shooting for comfort. Meanwhile, big names in Hollywood balked at what they viewed as an insensitive treatment of slavery - director Spike Lee took to Twitter to voice his disgust, declaring, "American slavery was not a Sergio Leone spaghetti western. It was a Holocaust." If you can stomach the violence, Django is worth checking out - if only to decide where you stand on the issues.

2. Argo

Boston native Ben Affleck's political thriller Argo turned a lot of heads this season. The edge-of-your-seat true story of the wildly improbable rescue of 6 U.S. diplomats from Iran moved along at a breakneck pace, thanks to incredible writing and directing. Argo opened to huge critical acclaim, with audiences responded almost universally positively, and it was in talks to be one of Lincoln's strongest competitors. That's why it was such a shock when Affleck was snubbed for the Best Director nomination. The only modern-day film that has won Best Picture without a Best Director nod was 1989's Driving Miss Daisy -- in other words, it's almost unheard of. But Affleck has been collecting accolades ever since, receiving Best Director and Best Picture awards at the Golden Globes and the Critics Choice Awards, and receiving AFI and Roger Ebert's stamp of approval as the Movie of the Year. Competition is stiff, but this just might be the year for a film like Argo to break the mold.

1. Zero Dark Thirty

You can bet that Zero Dark Thirty is the only film that they're talking about around the water coolers at the White House this year. Kathryn Bigelow's take on the capture of Osama bin Laden has kept critics and senators arguing from its inception. Bigelow had to push back the film's release when opponents of Obama cried that it would sway voters to his side, but when it hit theaters in January, the controversy became laser-focused on the film's apparent pro-torture stance and the methods by which Bigelow and her team allegedly obtained classified information. Former CIA agents and military personnel even formed a team called OSPEC to formally charge the Obama administration for releasing classified documents to the filmmakers. All of this controversy didn't seem to bother critics, who gave Zero Dark Thirty a 93% on Rotten Tomatoes and widely praised its direction and the skillfully subdued performance by its lead actress, Jessica Chastain. However, the Academy wasn't feeling so generous, as it snubbed Bigelow for a Best Director nomination, taking the wind out of the sails of this formerly strong competitor for Best Picture. This does seem to be a year for surprises, though, and who knows what could happen on the big night? Zero Dark Thirty surely has a fighting chance to rise from the proverbial ashes and give Lincoln a run for its money.

One More Dentist

Does this sound familiar? Your mouth is a mess. It became this way because, well you just gave up. You have had a number of unpleasant experiences. They range from being lectured, almost scolded for the condition of your teeth, to being hurt in the "chair". You have untreated problems. They don't hurt now and it is easier to "forget about them" than go through the process once again.

I am inviting you to visit me to give it one more chance. We'll talk to you. We'll listen. There's nothing you have that I haven't seen before. I'll give you options - no pressure - just an unbelievably pleasant experience that will likely win back your trust and confidence. So go ahead, hold me to this, give it one more try. I'll bet you'll leave smiling. Now that's something I'm really proud of, restoring your smile and confidence, also providing periodontic - implant dentistry and anesthesia services.

Spellbound at the Spellman

By Paige Impink
Special to the Crier

Who knew? There are only two postal museums in the United States. The National Postal Museum in Washington, DC is the largest, but the other is tucked locally on the campus of Regis College in Weston. The Spellman Museum of Stamps and Postal History started as the private collection of Francis Cardinal Spellman in 1950, and has grown to showcase an intriguing collection of stamps, postal history, philatelic research materials and more.

commemorating the first day of issue of a new stamp. The intricacies of the artwork, the process of creating a new stamp and the history of mail delivery are all presented in an approachable, easy to understand series of exhibits on two floors.

The museum does a fine job of educating visitors through its many scavenger hunt information sheets. These sheets walk the visitor through the halls in a logical fashion, and those who complete the hunt receive a special prize of stamps to take home! The museum can be covered at a leisurely pace.

If you have children, the museum is best visited on a Family Activity Day. Check the schedule at www.spellman.org. Enthusiastic volunteers guide visitors through the many activities designed around stamps. On the day we visited, the staff offered the children a chance to mail a postcard home (postage provided) and write a letter to Santa. Once deposited in the special North Pole mailbox, the letter is sent to the Jolly Old Elf, and a response is then sent to the child.

Other hands-on activities included making mosaics out of stamps, learning how to make envelopes out of old maps and wrapping paper, and the chance to pick through and collect dozens of stamps from around the globe. The museum receives donated stamps daily from collectors and enthusiasts. Stamps of marginal value, or those cancelled are then used for these enrichment activities and are enjoyed by the public.

A trip to the Spellman Museum is a fine way to spend an afternoon. The galleries are not crowded and you can absorb these miniature works of art at your own pace. The delight of sending and receiving letters is not lost at this museum. Perhaps you'll even be inspired to take a moment and write an old friend about your visit!

Gorgeous Artwork

Of note are the museum's collections of Zeppelin stamps, Christmas stamps from around the world, and a large array of Christmas seals and covers. Stamps of Massachusetts and special New England history covers are also on display in the activity room. Covers are envelopes or postcards

Visitors sift through loads of donated stamps, collecting ones of interest- outer space, stamps from other countries, single color stamps and more.

Financial Checklist For Year End

The end of the year is a great time to sit down and review your overall financial situation. Are you on track for retirement? Have you checked to see if the beneficiaries on your retirement accounts are correct and up to date? If you're 70½ or older, have you sorted out your Required Minimum Distributions for the year? Taking control of your finances is more important now than ever. Here are a few tips to help you get a jump on the new year.

Foreign Film Series Foreign Letters (USA) (RR)

Monday, Jan. 28, 6:30 pm
Ellie, a 12-year-old immigrant girl from Israel, is lonely and homesick. Life brightens when she meets Thuy, a Vietnamese refugee her age. Trust slowly builds as the two teach each other about life in America. As Ellie and Thuy become inseparable, they eventually hurt and betray each other. Ellie must give up her most prized possession in order to save their friendship. Based on the filmmaker's own experience, Foreign Letters is a story about prejudice, poverty, shame, and the power of friendship to heal us.

Vasermil (Israel) (RR)

Monday, Feb. 11, 6:30 pm
Named after the local soccer stadium in the Southern Israeli town of Beer Sheba, Vasermil tells the story of three teenagers from separate marginalized communities, who pin their hopes on soccer as a way out. Shlomi, Adiel, and Dima are recruited by the coach of the local soccer team to take part in the Beersheba Youth Championship, held on Independence Day at the Vasermil Stadium. Success at the tournament means getting noticed by the scouts of the local soccer empire, Hapoel Beersheba. In order to win, Shlomi, Adiel, and Dima, each with his own set of adversities, will have to learn to play as a team and overcome their differences.

Teen Events

Crafty Teens Workshop: Pop-Up Cards (RR)

Monday, Feb. 4, 2:30 pm
Learn the basic cuts and folds you need to make a pop-up card, and then experiment with your own designs to make Valentines, birthday cards, and other 3-dimensional art projects.

Teen Chocolate-Covered Workshop (RR)

Wednesday, Feb. 13, 3 pm
Pretzels, cookies, fruit, cake... is there anything that doesn't taste better covered in chocolate? Experiment with melted chocolate, caramel, crushed candies, and more and make your own gourmet Valentine treats.

Teens Judge Brownies (RR)

Tuesday, Feb. 19, 7 pm

Do you like brownies??? The Brownie Bake-Off needs judges! Judge submissions based on texture and flavor, and cast your vote for Wilmington's Best Brownies. Contact Teen Librarian Brandy Danner at 978-694-2098 to sign up to be a judge.

Tewksbury Public Schools Kindergarten Round Up and Informational Night

TEWKSBURY - Tewksbury School Department invites parents and guardians to attend the annual Kindergarten Round Up / Informational Night scheduled on Thursday, February 7, 2013 at 6:30 p.m. in the Tewksbury Memorial High School Performing Arts Center. The purpose of this meeting is to provide parents/guardians of incoming kindergarten children with information regarding the two kindergarten enrollment options within the Tewksbury Public Schools. These options include:

- Regular Kindergarten Program: 2½ day schedule (no fee)
- Full-day Kindergarten Program: 5 - d a y schedule (tuition-based)

District administrative staff, principals, and teachers will describe the academic and social focus of these programs, articulate the difference between the two kindergarten programs, and answer parent/guardian's questions. Parents/Guardians who wish to enroll their child(ren) in the full-day kindergarten program may pay an initial deposit on this evening. Student registration for the full-day kindergarten program can also be completed at the Finance and Operation Manager's Office, located at 139 Pleasant Street (978-640-7816). All parent/guardians must register their child(ren) for kindergarten at their neighborhood school. The registration period has been scheduled for the week of March 4 - 8, 2013.

Caleb Eames House sold

measurements and by the nearby presence of an earlier house." The original use of this residence was listed as a farmhouse.

In 1822 Timothy Foster and Asa Sheldon purchased an eighty-five acre farm, on the Wilmington and Reading town line from John Pelsue of Reading for $777. Foster and Sheldon divided the property immediately after the purchase. Sheldon took a fifty-acre tract and the buildings in Reading while Foster took thirty-five acres with no mention of buildings at 400 Woburn Street in Wilmington.

Then, in 1826, Foster sold a forty-acre farm that bordered on the Ipswich River to James Taylor Sr., of Reading, gentleman, and James Taylor, Jr. of Wilmington, cordwainer (a worker in cordovan leather, a shoemaker) making mention of these buildings. This same farm was then sold to Caleb Eames Jr. in 1828 and seems most likely to have contained 400 Woburn St.

Continuing in their report, the Wilmington Historical Commission notes, "An additional parcel of land located on the County Road from Andover to Boston (Woburn Street) and at the southwest corner of Caleb Eames farm was purchased by Eames from the heirs of Joel Jenkins in 1839. Included on this lot was 'the homestead of Joel Jenkins, deceased.' The deed makes no reference to the property's acreage nor to its dimensions; therefore, it is impossible at present to know whether the Jenkins house was removed, incorporated in the Caleb Eames as a rear ell, or if it is one and the same as 400 Woburn Street."

Since there were two marriages between the Eames and Harnden family, Terry McDermott, Curator for the Wilmington Town Museum at the Col. Joshua Harnden Tavern was able to provide some historical information as well as the aforementioned report on the Caleb Eames House cited by the Wilmington Historical Commission.

Whatever the house's origin may be, it remained in the possession of the Eames family after the death of Caleb in 1866 until its sale to Edward Rice in 1948. Mentioned in the 1948 deed is a "Plan of Land of Caleb Eames" supposedly drawn by James Bancroft in November 1911. However, it was probably drawn between 1826-1850 because its lettering and manner of representing trees, buildings, etc. indicate that it is a plan drawn in the first half of the nineteenth century, perhaps between the Eames purchases of 1828 and 1839. The residence at 400 Woburn Street is shown clearly in the plan and is the same size as it is today with the addition to the "Old Barn" and "New Barn".

Since the sale in 1948 to someone other than an Eames descendent, the house has had numerous owners. Today the Caleb Eames House stands stately and tall and in pristine condition with many updates that blend the conveniences of today without losing the charm and character of yesteryear.

If the walls of 400 Woburn Street could talk, they would undoubtedly tell tales of the Eames family and the roles they played during the early years in their beloved town. There were quite a few men named Caleb and Samuel in the Eames clan. Noteworthy members include Samuel who was one of the establishers of Wilmington, others served as minutemen, selectmen, town clerks, school committee members, teachers, farmers, library trustees, store owners, railway conductors, a Boston journalist and so on. The Eames family even set up a farm (Poor Farm) for indigents to grow crops.

The recent real estate description of the house boasted of stunning historic features that include an amazing stepped fireplace in the kitchen, wide pine floors, exposed beams, wainscoting, and detailed moldings plus important updates that include windows, heating system, electrical, landscaping, a newer cherry kitchen and updated baths with a beautiful yard and a fenced in area. However, the most enchanting offer to prospective buyers was the unique opportunity to own a piece of treasured history.

While the Caleb Eames House blends in with other stately colonial homes, it certainly stands out as a bastion of the Eames family and validates their rightful place in the history of Wilmington.

able property). Lowell District Court Judge Lynn Rooney sentenced the defendant to 2 ½ years in the House of Correction with 18 months to serve and the balance suspended for 2 years. Following that sentence, the defendant was ordered to serve another 2 ½ year House of Correction sentence to be suspended for 5 years. During that period when the sentence is suspended, the defendant will be on probation conditions that he not engage in any employment or volunteer work with the elderly or disabled, not operate or manage his own business, complete a money management course, attend Gambler's Anonymous, and pay restitution.

"This defendant targeted seniors, many of whom had been his customers for years, and took advantage of them by taking deposits for work he never intended to perform and materials he never provided," District Attorney Leone said. "This case demonstrates how addiction, when left untreated, can lead a person to such despair and selfishness that they would manipulate and deceive vulnerable, trusting members of our community who deserve better. I commend the good work of all the agencies involved whose collaborative efforts ensured that this defendant would be held accountable."

"[Previously] I either paid after the service or gave a deposit and then the service was delivered as promised and the balance was paid," Wilmington resident Chuck Otis told the Crier last year. "I had used him for over 15 years and he has become a crook over the last year. We need to warn people!"

Chuck Roberto, owner of Dependable Oil Service in Billerica, used to recommend Santaniello for oil tank work and service until spring 2010 when he began receiving calls from clients that Santaniello was not returning to do the work he promised.

"He was fine at one point, but he changed somehow," Roberto said. "He is ruining my life I tell ya."

Roberto shared many clients with Mike's Oil Heat Service and said he has been trying to make it up to his clients by offering to cover the losses they have incurred. He said he also sent out a flyer last month warning people not to use Santaniello's service.

"I want to try to help them. I want to try to repair my image," Roberto said.

Otis filed a police report on Saturday, Feb. 4, 2011 with the Wilmington Police Department. Wilmington police told the Crier that a warrant for Santaniello's arrest was issued in Chelmsford. According to Billerica Police Sergeant Frost, they had an incident in Nov. 2011 involving Santaniello. The case was investigated and charges were filed.

According to authorities, the defendant, owner of Mike's Oil Heat Service in Chelmsford, stole from more than a dozen victims, many of whom are elderly, collecting deposits for service or repairs to oil tanks and burners. The work was never completed and new equipment was never delivered. In total, the defendant stole more than $21,000 from his customers. In addition, the defendant agreed to sell a trailer to a victim without furnishing the property.

In 2009, the defendant won a $1 million prize in the Massachusetts State Lottery, according to officials. Between August 2009 and June 2011, the defendant won an additional $23,000 from the Mass State Lottery.

The victims in this case are residents of Chelmsford, Billerica, Lexington, Burlington, Wilmington, Somerville, Bedford and Westford.

The Middlesex District Attorney's Office, and the Chelmsford, Billerica, Lexington, Burlington, Wilmington, Somerville, Bedford and Westford police departments investigated the case.

Regina Krumholz was the Assistant District Attorney assigned to prosecute this case.

Senior becomes 8th wrestler to crack 100 wins

Halliday joins an elite club

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Last Wednesday night, Wilmington High School senior Cody Halliday made program history when he became the eighth wrestler in the history of the program to achieve 100 wins in a career. He did so at the Lexington High School gymnasium when he pinned Evan Zarba at the 58 second mark to win the 152-pound match.

Halliday now joins Derek Hanley, Steve Sughrue, Michael Sorrentino, brothers Evan and Roman Walsh, Michael St. Aubin and most recently Shawn Adams, who did it two years ago, as the only grapplers in the history of the program to achieve the impressive milestone.

For Halliday this is a dream come true ever since he was a young child. After dabbling in soccer and football briefly, he gave wrestling a try and never stopped. In fact, he wrestles year-round, so if it's not with the high school team, it's at the DoughBoy Club several times a week or in various tournaments held over the country whether it Virginia, Ohio or Pennsylvania.

He has also journeyed on with various camps and clinics, all to get better at the sport that he not only truly loves but has been in the family genes for quite some time. His father Dan was a wrestler at WHS in the early 1980s and his uncles Scott and Chad also spent four years with the program including Scott holding down record for most consecutive pins during his career in the late 1980s.

Throughout the last ten years or so since he got involved, wrestling has been Cody Halliday's life. However after this season all of that will change. He plans on attending Norwich University where he eventually wants to become an Officer of the Special Forces with the Army Branch.

also are an individual and you get to push yourself. Basically what you put into the sport is what you get out of it and I like that aspect of it. I like the work ethic of the sport. I don't ever get sick of it but at the end of the sea-

100 Win Club

In the history of the WHS Wrestling program, only eight wrestlers have won 100 matches in their career, with current senior Cody Halliday joining the list this past week. Here's the group below with their records:

Derek Hanley	153-33
Steve Sughrue	133-31
Michael Sorrentino	132-55
Evan Walsh	123-52
Roman Walsh	117-26
Shawn Adams	105*
Cody Halliday	103-34
Michael St. Aubin	100-20

*Defeats not known; **Currently in the middle of his senior season.

Perhaps that's why reaching the three digit plateau in career victories, means so much to him now.

"This (100-win milestone) means a lot to me," he said. "I was hoping to get it last year and I came so close. It felt good. I was worried about not making it, but I did it so now I just want to finish the end of the season strong."

Spending so much time on the wrestling mats, wearing a singlet and trying to put opposing wrestlers in moves or trying to get out from a pin, has never stopped Halliday enjoying the sport that he's so passionate about.

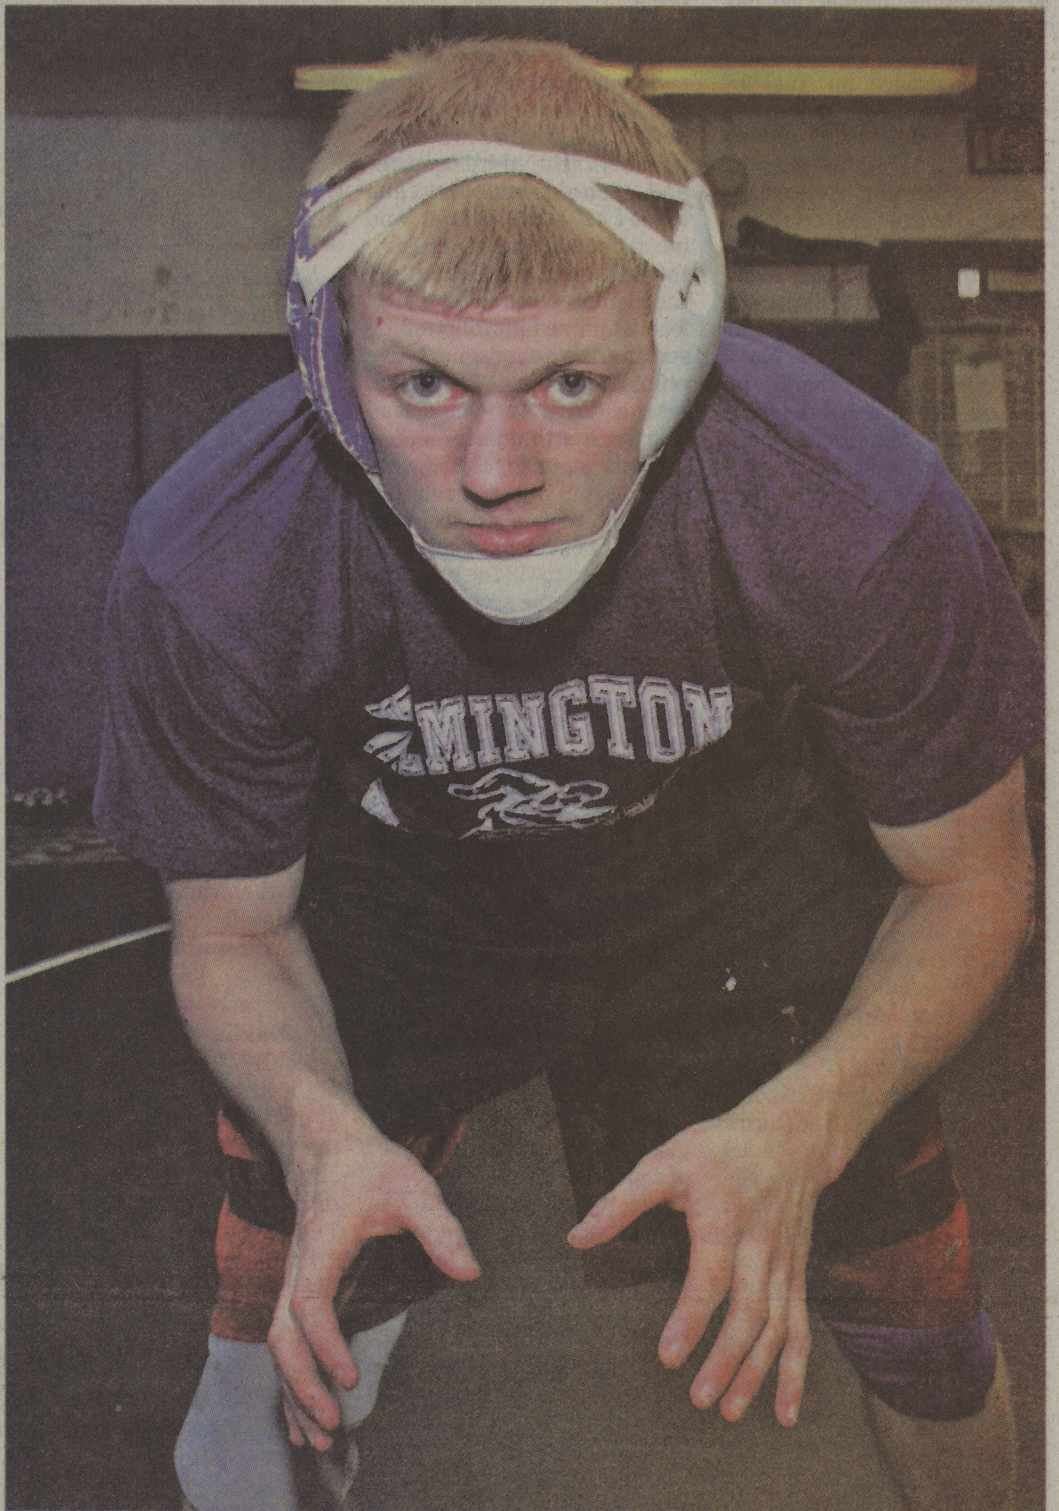

"I like the competitiveness," he said. "I like that it's a team sport but you son you do want to kick your feet back a little bit but the everyday grind of the sport I like and it's where I want to be at in my career (past Wilmington High School)."

Halliday became an instant winner when he came onto the program as a freshman. He ended the season with a record of 34-14 which included 14 pins. Among his highlights that season for Halliday included taking second at the Sons of Italy Tournament, third at the Division 3 North Sectionals and fourth at the Cape Ann League Championship Meet.

That success nearly duplicated during his sophomore season. He finished 35-12 with 11 pins, finished second

Girls 4x400 relay team crowned champs

Blazing into unseeded territory

By JAMIE POTE

ROXBURY – They weren't in the seeded heat, and they didn't have their usual team, yet despite those obstacles, four members of the Wilmington High School Girls Indoor Track-and-Field team were crowned the 4x400 relay champions during the Class C State Relay Meet held Sunday morning at the Reggie Lewis Center in Roxbury.

The team of juniors Kelly Hartsough and Rachel Alatalo, as well as seniors Cassie Grasso and Michelle Barnes finished with a combined time of 4:11.16, coming from the unseeded heat which was better than Hingham, which ran a time of 4:11.92 from the seeded heat.

"I'm really proud that we won the 4x4, especially because we weren't put in the seeded heat," said Alatalo, the team's anchor leg. "We kind of got to show them that we deserved to be in that heat next time, and that we can hold our own against other great teams."

Usually the team consists of Hartsough, Grasso, Alatalo and Alex Bischoff, but the latter missed the meet so coaches Tom Bradley and Tracy Botelho thought Barnes would be a great replacement. And she was. But before the race started, the coaches and the four girls talked over the different strategies of which order to go in, as Hartsough usually is the anchor leg but they agreed to have her go as the lead-off leg, followed by Barnes and Grasso before Alatalo finished it off as the anchor. All of that seemed to work to perfection.

"Going into the meet both Mr. Bradley and (assistant) coach Tracy Botelho told us that it would be a possibility that we could do really well and maybe win the meet," said Hartsough, who has been undefeated thus far in league meets in the 1,000 meters. "So when they were calling the heats and we weren't in the fastest one, it kind of surprised us all. We

Team getting back on track

Lady ‘Cats grab two huge wins

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It was a huge week for the Wilmington High School Varsity Girls’ Basketball team after beating one of the top teams in Division 2 on Friday night, before defeating a seven win Belmont team in an overtime thriller on Tuesday, a game that had to be one of the worst officiated games seen in a long time.

Yet despite facing two caliber teams, and despite not being able to get into any kind of groove on Tuesday night, Wilmington pulled out two victories, running its streak to three to put the team’s record at 5-6 overall as they inch closer to reaching the .500 mark after starting out 0-4.

On Friday, Wilmington topped Burlington 53-34 and the Red Devils are the No. 6 ranked team in the latest Boston Herald Division 2 North Poll. Then on Tuesday night, it took a brilliant effort from Carli Brent and company to overtake a very good Belmont team, 52-46 in overtime, and the Marauders were led by Katie Leinbach, who scored 24 points in the losing effort.

“That’s a 7-3 Belmont team that we just beat,” said WHS coach Jay Keane after the win that took nearly two hours because of the horrific officiating. “And Leinbach I believe is going to play next year at Tufts. She’s had a number of Division 2 (collegiate) offers. We had a shot to win it in regulation – it was a shot, not a real good shot but a shot. Then in overtime the girls hung in there (and pulled out the win).”

One of the biggest aspects of the game was free throw shooting. Wilmington ended up going 18-for-31 in the game, and Belmont finished 15-for-33 which included going just 9-for-24 in the second half. The entire game was whistle after whistle with all kinds of bizarre calls on both teams.

“There was a point where I had to manage four to five girls who all had four fouls in the fourth quarter,” said Keane. “So that was one thing I was trying to make the girls understand is that no matter how sloppy the game is, they had to keep their composure and for the most part I thought they did that tonight.

“I’ve been saying it all season long that (our struggles) have not been because a lack of effort. These girls have been working so hard. I don’t even remember taking Christa or Carli (Brent) out during the entire game. They are both playing really well and I can’t take them off the floor because they just do so much for us and they are so good defensively. They are both I think our leading rebounders and they are playing the one and two guard positions.”

Wilmington started out strong in the early goings of the game taking an 8-2 lead before Belmont responded with a 10-0 run and eventually took a slim three-point 12-9 lead after the first quarter. The Wildcats started to generate some offense in the second quarter behind two buckets from Carli Brent which came before Cailin O’Flaherty finished a great basket on a give-and-go with Michelle Woods which tied the game up at 17.

The teams played even the rest of the half and Belmont took a 22-21 lead into the break.

Woods started to get hot in the third quarter, as she ended up scoring 12 of her 14 points in the second half. She netted the team’s first six points of the third quarter and then Lauren McKenna came off the bench and buried a 15-foot jumper from the left hand corner cutting the deficit down to a point. The Brent sisters followed by scoring the team’s next five points helping Wilmington take a small two-point lead into the fourth quarter.

Woods opened the fourth scoring on a put back but Belmont responded by scoring its next four points on free throws to tie the game up at 37. Forty one seconds later, Carli Brent converted on a strong drive to the hoop giving Wilmington a three-point lead. Belmont was able to cut it down to a point a minute later after Leinbach’s put back, and then scored on one of two free throws with 14 seconds left to send the game into overtime.

There in the four-minute frame, the Brent sisters scored all of Wilmington’s nine points including Christa on a beautiful drive with 1:43 to go and Carli on a great dish from Kristen Connors with 50 seconds left which all but sealed the deal. Christa closed it out by hitting three of four free throws.

“This was a great team win and I think I went nine or ten deep tonight,” said Keane. “I just needed a few good minutes from the girls off the bench and they did that. Their job is to hold the line and they did that so this is a good win for us. It was really hard tonight (to get into a rhythm) because we do so much in transition. I tell the girls not to worry about the officials because there is nothing we can do if they are good, bad or indifferent. But we gutted it out tonight and the effort is there and that’s all I can ask for.”

Carli Brent led the way with 17 points while Woods finished with 14. Christa Brent added nine points and she also had three steals. Woods grabbed eight rebounds.

In the win over Burlington, Carli led the way with 15 points and O’Flaherty was also in double figures with 11.

“We had a great week with beating Burlington and now Belmont,” said Keane. “Like I said all along we are just trying to get better every day so after tonight, it’s back to work tomorrow to try to get better.”

Wilmington will travel to Arlington on Friday before coming home on Tuesday to face Winchester at 7:00 pm.

The best dressed coach in the Middlesex League, Jay Keane, certainly had his hands full on Tuesday night during the Girls Basketball team’s overtime win over Arlington. After one of several players in the game fouled out, Keane spoke to his current players on the floor including Michelle Woods (22) and Carli Brent (5), while looking on include Christa Brent, Rachel Mara and Kristen Connors. ## Title IX Basketball Fiasco

Lexington AD apologizes to parent

By JIM HAGGERTY
Daily Times Chronicle

Lexington High School Athletic Director Naomi Martin has sent a letter of apology to Lexington resident Kathryn Robb for “certain statements that were untrue” in recent dealings with the Middlesex League basketball program and the separating of boys and girls games.

Girls and boys games in the Middlesex League were typically played on the same night in Middlesex League gyms since the beginning of the 1994-95 season, but were changed after so-called threats from Robb to inform The Boston Globe of discrimination, as well as to file a complaint under Title IX — a Civil Rights violation. In turn, the Middlesex League Athletic Directors separated the games to opposite sites for the 2012-13 season.

Protests ensued from Middlesex girls basketball coaches and players, along with basketball fans who came to cherish the relationship over several decades, i.e. watch the end of one game and stay for the second.

Now, the Cambridge law firm of Clark, Hunt, Ahern & Embry has intervened on behalf of Kathryn Robb. In turn, Lexington Supt. of Schools Dr. Paul Ash admits the charges made by Lexington Athletic Director Naomi Martin were wrong back on November 15, 2012.

Supt. Ash and AD Martin have also informed the Middlesex ADs that a letter from AD Martin on November 15 had been greatly exaggerated and distorted. In a letter of apology to Robb, AD Martin wrote on January 19:

“I am writing to you to apologize for the contents of an email that I sent to the Middlesex Athletic Directors on November 15, 2012. In that email, I made certain statements that were untrue, which had the affect of misrepresenting your intentions regarding Lexington’s compliance with Title IX.

“Specifically, and as you know, the email states that changes must be made to the girls’ basketball schedule because you had threatened legal action and negative publicity. I tried to bolster this rationale for the change by directly quoting from and adding to an email you had sent to Ms. Lasa the day before. In fact, that email did not threaten a lawsuit or negative publicity. In addition, I made it appear that you wrote the following sentence which in fact I wrote and you did not: ‘The time is now and the paperwork is prepared for the Boston Globe and for the OCR (Office of Civil Rights).’

“I also changed the words of your email by adding several references to the Middlesex League that were in fact not there to give the impression that you threatened actions that include them. I know this was wrong and I deeply regret having communicated as I did. I sincerely apologize.

“I want you to know that Superintendent Ash will directly communicate with the athletic directors to set the record straight with them as well, and I will ask him to forward his communication to you as soon as it is available.”

In turn, Ash in a public “press release” blasted AD Martin’s conduct “of deliberate distortion of (a) parent’s email requesting gender equity in Lexington athletics.”

In his castigation of her actions, Dr. Ash in turn:

- Sent a letter out to all Athletic Directors of the Middlesex League describing AD Naomi Martin’s conduct as “unacceptable” and something which “must be corrected;”

- Apologizes for “misrepresentations” of Martin and condemns “this unacceptable distortion (by Martin of Mrs. Robb’s email by including statements she never made);”
- Praises Robb for “her principled advocacy for gender equity in sports;”
- And, Martin sends a separate apology to Robb; Martin admits lying in an email to League Athletic Directors concerning non-existent threat of Robb to sue “go to the Globe” if gender equity issues in scheduling were not addressed; Martin states: “I know this was wrong and I deeply regret having communicated as I did.”

Kathryn Robb

In Lexington, Kathryn Robb has been a familiar figure on the basketball and sports scene for over 20 years. Attorney William Murray in an interview with the Daily Times Chronicle noted life around the sports scene in Lexington has been very difficult for Robb since the series of events that upended the traditional winter sports scene.

“We don’t have any plans now to go any further,” said Robb in his Cambridge office yesterday. “Our eyes have been focused on getting the record corrected.”

Murray went on to say a major effort was being made locally (Lexington), to the ADs and others on the sports scene, as well as sports fans in the Middlesex League area. The word of Robb’s action last November, he said, “went around town like wildfire.”

“The incident had gone to the point where old friend at gymnasiums and around town were going out of their way to avoid her,” Attorney Murray said.

The attorney went to the point of the filing of a Freedom of Information request to have the town of Lexington, its superintendent and principal give up known correspondence in the case.

Also, Attorney Murray suggested there could be “an easy fix” i.e. to just switch times in the same gym on game night. “It would be there for all the households, too,” he said, noting some parents have students on both the boys and girls team.

Both Attorney Murray and Robb were lamenting over the fact she had put 20-plus years into the Lexington programs “only to have it wiped out in a minute. We began at the start to sense just how widespread it really was.”

Attorney Murray also pointed to the last sentence in one of Robb’s emails of November 14 to Laura Lasa.

“I have been reasonable, fair and professional. I did not demand that the schedule be changed immediately last year. I did not go directly to Superintendent Ash. I did not go to the Boston Globe. I did not file a complaint with the Massachusetts Office of Civil Rights. I did my research and provided you and LHS administration with accurate information about the 90% of MAA schools that are in compliance with Title IX.

“I provided you and the LHS athletic administration with useful and clear information on the law of Title IX (federal statute and case law). I offered reasonable solutions. And, I waited patiently or LHS to be in compliance.

“I am not looking for blame, judgment or penalty. I am seeking progress. I am asking LHS to be a leader in fairness and equity in the Middlesex League. I am simply asking LHS to follow the law and to provide equity and fairness to their female (and male) athletes. I am looking for the opportunity to finally congratulate Lexington High School and its administration achieving parity and fairness.”

Rams Girls Hoop team easily overtakes NDA

The Shawsheen Girls Basketball team had only one game this past week, but they certainly made the most of their lone opportunity, rolling to a 61-33 win over Notre Dame Academy of Tyngsboro in a CAC Large matchup on Tuesday night at the Cook Street Pavilion.

The Lady Rams, who improved to 7-1 on the season with the win got a game high 16 points, three assists and six steals from sophomore point guard Shanelle Nardone of Tewksbury and also got 13 points each from Tewksbury residents Ari Medeiros and Stephanie Champoux. Medeiros added four assists and four steals, while Champoux had five assists and three steals.

"The impressive thing was they were putting up those points while basically playing half the game," Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss said. "We were playing a first team and then a second team, but they still managed to have good games."

While Medeiros and Champoux have been mainstays for several years for the Lady Rams, Nardone's improvement may be one of the most encouraging signs for Shawsheen as she grows into the point guard position. "Probably of all the girls on the team, she has the best jump shot," Barriss said. "There are times when she can come off a pick and pull up and hit a jump shot for us."

In some ways, it was a tough game for Barriss to be able to judge where his team stands after a one week layoff, as they for the most part were able to coast against a much weaker Notre Dame team. But when he was forced to challenge his team in the second half, they did respond very well when Notre Dame cut the Shawsheen lead to 12 points with four minutes left in the third quarter.

"We had the second unit in there and I just told them that if they didn't get going I was going to take them out and put in the first team," Barriss said. "Next thing you know they ran off eight straight points to push the lead to 20 and then we dominated the fourth quarter."

Shawsheen's schedule has been somewhat sporadic so far this season, with long layoffs between several of their games. But as they move into the second half of the season they will be on a much more regular schedule with games every Tuesday and Friday. Barriss is hoping that the consistent schedule will help his team fine tune their game.

"I definitely think it has to help," Barriss said. "It's hard to get back into the season after having a one week layoff like we did. That does not help at all with our continuity. I think it will help us a little bit as we get to the end of the season."

BOYS HOOP

Led by a career night by senior guard Joe Spinale of Wilmington the Shawsheen Boys Basketball team won a thriller at Minuteman Tech on Tuesday night, coming away with a 74-72 win in a CAC crossover battle.

Spinale had a career high 32 points and added five steals to his epic performance to carry the Rams who led 41-36 at the half. Shawsheen coach Greg Bendel knew that Spinale was capable of having a night like this, and was thrilled to see the senior star put it all together in a big game.

"Joe was on fire tonight and led our team the entire way," Bendel said. "His defense was outstanding as well. I am really happy for Joe. He showed tonight what a terrific shooter he can be."

Senior Point guard Paul DePlacido had 16 points and ten assists, while junior center Jared Pinette had 14 points and ten rebounds and freshman forward Ryan Donnell of Wilmington had four points and eight rebounds while filling in for injured senior Mike Brown of Wilmington, who remains out with an ankle injury suffered in last week's win over Lynn Tech.

Senior forward Pat Gallagher played great defense for the Rams while senior guard Zach Amidon made clutch free throws once again to seal the game for the Rams.

"Our bench is really improving and contributing for us when we need them," Bendel said. "I am not afraid to put guys in because I know they are going to work extra hard for the minutes they play."

Bendel was proud of the effort his entire team put in to pick up this key CAC victory. "With the exception of Ryan, who is adjusting quite well to the varsity level, our team has a lot of experience and tonight that experience paid off," Bendel said. "I am very proud of our guys for working together to get this much needed road victory."

On Sunday, the Rams lost to undefeated North Reading by the score of 69-41. North Reading is the 12th ranked team in Massachusetts according to the Boston Globe. The Rams were led by Pinette who had 12 points and nine rebounds while junior guard Joe Mason of Tewksbury added nine points and five rebounds.

"Hats off to North Reading. They are a very talented team. They out played us and we just need to learn from it and keep working to get better as a team," Bendel said. "This was a good mid season test for us to see where we stand against one of the best teams in our division and we certainly have a lot to improve on the second half of the season."

"I am proud of our guys for going in there place and not being afraid of a tremendous challenge."

BOYS HOCKEY

Things are starting to come together for the Shawsheen Tech Boys Hockey team. After two more wins in three games this past week the Rams now sport a 7-5 overall record, having won six of their last seven games and they appear to be playing their best hockey of the season as they head into the home stretch of their schedule.

The Rams had a pair of impressive wins this week, starting with an 8-0 rout of CAC rival Minuteman at home last Thursday, followed by an even more impressive 1-0 victory over Division 2 North Quincy on Monday. The wins were sandwiched around a 4-1 loss to Bedford on Saturday.

On Monday the Rams took to the road and traveled to Kingston to take on a North Quincy squad that is ranked fifth in Division 2 and was coming off a 1-1 tie with Division 1 power Duxbury and had already posted a 6-3 record in Division 2.

Shawsheen was not intimidated, however, as led by 20 saves by senior goalie Matt Curran of Wilmington, they came away with a 1-0 victory that may have been their most impressive win of the season.

It was Curran's second shutout of the season and he earned it with some big saves as the Rams preserved their 1-0 lead.

"Matt played great. He was tested at times and came up with some solid saves, especially when they pulled the goalie with just under two minutes left," Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker said. "Matt has gained confidence and is playing very well. We tried not to protect the lead. We just stayed playing fast and physical with the hopes of extending the lead."

While Curran was outstanding throughout the game, senior forward Lucas Daniels game winning goal, which came with 2:55 left in the second period was a thing of beauty. Junior forward Brandon Gentile of Wilmington made a great move at center ice, putting the puck between a North Quincy defender's legs, and broke in with Daniels on a 2 on 1 break to set up the goal.

"He held the puck and drew the defenseman and gave Lucas a pass cross crease and Lucas buried it with authority," Baker said. "Pretty goal."

And it was a pretty win for the Rams. Baker, who has seen his team steadily improve as the season has gone on, feels like this game could be a springboard for the rest of the season.

"North Quincy is a very good Division 2 South team. They have played and beaten or tied some real good teams," Baker said. "We played probably the most complete game yesterday that I have seen in three years. If we play the remainder of our schedule with the work ethic we played with yesterday, we are going to be tough to beat, as long as we score some goals."

Against Minuteman, the Rams were also clicking on all cylinders, albeit against a much weaker opponent, and the results were predictable as they rolled to an 8-0 win.

Senior forward Scott Dennehy led the Rams offense with two goals and an assist, while senior forward Nolan Gaffey of Wilmington also had a pair of goals. Daniels had a goal and an assist, as did sophomore forward Ryan Collins, while senior forward Nick Gelormini and sophomore defenseman Kevin Corcoran each had a goal.

"It was nice to get the offense going like that," Baker said. "It gave the team some confidence."

Senior forward Kevin Coneeny of Tewksbury had three assists, while senior forward Corey Poirier of Tewksbury had two assists.

"They both worked hard and played well," Baker said. "They worked hard and it paid off for them, tallying some points."

Wilmington 7th Grade Boys hoop team busy on the parquet floor

Boys 7th Grade Blue Wilmington vs Worcester

The Wilmington 7th Grade Blue Wildcats met their match Saturday, losing to a very quick and hungry Worcester team 81-63. Coach Vega had a vacancy in the schedule and wanted his boys to get a chance at playing up. And that's what they got, not having seen that combination of speed, agility and size all year long.

The Wildcats shot the ball well but weren't used to Worcester's speed. Turnovers ensued which led to more scoring opportunities for Worcester.

Billy McEvoy got hot from outside and led the team with 14 points, Graham Smith with nine, Kellan Hardy and Andrew Almeida each with eight and Andrew Pearson with seven.

Wilmington vs Windham, NH

The Wilmington 7th Grade Blue Wildcats beat Windahm 72-40.

Windham came to town with a 5-4 record looking to upset the undefeated Wildcats. In the first half Windham brought their A-game, executing their game plan to perfection. The Wildcats were clinging to a 4 pt. lead at the half.

During the break, coach made adjustments to his lineup combinations and his defensive game plan. The Wildcats came out with a vengeance. Leading the way defensively was Andrew Almeida. He was asked to cover Windham's hottest player, who had torched the Wildcats for 12 points in the first half. Andrew shut him down, holding him to just two points. Matt Amentola, Danny Gracia and Mason Vega also stood out defensively helping to hold the Windham team to just eight points in the second half.

The scoring was as balanced as they have had all year with all 11 players finding the scorers sheet. Leading the way was Graham Smith with 12, Danny Gracia and Andrew Almeida with ten. Billy McEvoy and Matt Amentola had nine each. Mason Vega had six, Chris Grecco, Kellan Hardy and Travis Haines each had four. Joey Rebeiro and Andrew Pearson finished the scoring with 2twpoints each.

The Wildcats' record improves to 8-0. Their next games will be Sat. 1/26 vs. Tewksbury in Lowell and will play home on Sunday at the High School at 1:00 vs. a very good Methuen team currently with a 7-4 record.

Wilmington vs Wakefield

The 7 Blue Wildcats improve their record to 6-0 in league play by beating Wakefield, 58-37. This was a total team effort led by Graham Smith (14 points, 4 assists and 4 steals), Mason Vega (10 points, 5 rebounds, 4 blocks) and Danny Gracia (8 points, 5 rebounds, and 4 steals). Rounding out the scoring were Chris Grecco (5), Andrew Almeida (5), Billy McEvoy (4), Andrew Pearson (4), Kellan Hardy (2), Joey Rebeiro (2) and Matt Amentola (2).

Wilmington vs Salem

The Wildcats got off to a great start taking a 36-14 lead at the half. Graham

Smith and Danny Gracia scored 12 and 10 points respectively. Billy McEvoy and Matt Amentola added five points each. Mason Vega was a beast blocking five shots in the first half alone.

Playing with only nine kids, the Wildcats seemed to run out of gas in the second half. Fortunately, Salem came up three points short and the Wildcats keep their undefeated status of 5-0.

Wilmington vs Tewksbury

The Wilmington 7 Blue Boys get to 3-0 in league play. Wilmington got out early and often in this game vs. Tewksbury White, 71-25. Wilmington's Defense fueled their offense to a season high 71 points. Danny Gracia led the way with 15 points. Also in double digits were Andrew Almeida (12) and Mason Vega (10).

down. Newburyport had a 13-0 run, forcing Coach Vega to call a time out. That was just what the doctor ordered. Wilmington came out of the timeout with a run of their own (14-2) to gain back control of the game and a lead of 47-30.

Top three scorers for the game were Matt Amentola (14), Graham Smith (10) and Mason Vega (8). Wilmington had great scoring balance as there were five boys with six points each (Grecco, Rebeiro, McEvoy, Gracia and Haines). Hardy and Pearson had two points each. Although Andrew Almeida didn't score, he played solid in his first game back from injury.

8th Grade Boys White

The Wilmington White 8th Grade Boys travel basketball team played Tewksbury White on Saturday, January 19 at home and come away with a 53-50 victory, making their record 7-2 for the season. Leading scorers were Kyle Felisberto and Dan Judkins each with ten points, and Russell Abbott with eight. Following close behind were Stephen Cardarelli and Connor Robinson with seven, and Stephen Bonish with six.

Top rebounders were Judkins and Connor Robinson with nine each, Brendan Daly with six, and Felisberto with five. Judkins led the team in steals with five.

UMass-Lowell offering Softball Skills Clinics

The UMass Lowell softball team has announced its February Coaches Clinic slated for Saturday, Feb. 9, as well as its Elite Collegiate Skills Clinic Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 18-19.

The Feb. 9 Coaches Clinic will be held at the Cumnock Hall Auditorium on University Avenue from 8:45 a.m. until 5:00 p.m., with a 45-minute break at 12:35 for a provided lunch.

Speakers of the clinic include Rachel Hanson, head coach at Dartmouth; Peter Maneggia, head coach at Eastern Connecticut; UMass Lowell pitching coach Danielle Mason; as well as UMass Lowell head coach Sean Cotter, entering his fourth season.

Cost of the clinic is $75 for pre-registered attendees and $85 for walk-up entries.

UMass Lowell's two-day clinic Feb. 18-19 is open to the first 26 high school-aged players who register and will run from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on both days with a 55-minute lunch at 12:15. Cost of the clinic is $225 per player. Three or more players attending from the same high school will be charged only $200 per player. The clinic is open to high school players only.

The clinic will be conducted by Cotter, along with assistant coach/former Merrimack standout Kara Melillo; as well as former UMass Lowell standouts Heather Ross, assistant coach at Emmanuel College; and Lindsy Panarelli, assistant coach at Fitchburg State.

For more information, contact Sean Cotter and/or assistant coach Kara Melillo in the UMass Lowell softball office at 978-934-3977; or via e-mail: sean_cotter@uml.edu; kara_melillo@uml.edu.

Wilmington Youth Hockey team summaries next week

Blazing into unseeded territory

ended up being the 11th seed out of the 41 teams entered."

The Wildcats were seeded 11th out of 41 teams and without one of his regular runners, the four girls still took first place overall, a tremendous accomplishment going against all of the odds.

"We all watched when the seeded heat ran," said Hartsough. "We had put up such a good time that I figured we would most likely get a medal, but I didn't think we would be able to win. We were all watching the race hoping that our time would be better than any of the ones in the last heat. When the top team came across the finish line, they were fairly close to our time, but we thought that ours had been better. We were all psyched, because at that point we thought we had won the meet."

"The officials took a long time to announce who had won. But when then finally did, we were all ecstatic. It's such a great feeling to win a meet like that, especially when you're not even in the seeded heat."

Hartsough said that her split was around 61 seconds. When she handed the baton off to Barnes, Wilmington had the lead and the team never looked back from there.

"Michelle ran a very strong leg, as did Cassie," said Hartsough.

Grasso, coming off a very good soccer season much like Hartsough, took the baton as the third leg and sprinted to a great 61 second split herself. She kept the lead before Alatalo polished it off.

"When I got the baton Kelly and Michelle had given us a lead with one team still on our tail and I knew I could not let that go," said Grasso. "I ran the best I ever had and wanted it more than anything. When I handed it off to Rachel I knew she could keep the lead because she is amazing, and I was cheering her on the whole time."

For Grasso, being a part of this championship title means so much, especially since she's basically brand new to the sport.

"This means so much to me," she said. "This is my first year of track and making the relay team to start was a highlight and then working with these girls and being able to come this far was such an accomplishment."

After Grasso finished her split, she was huffing and puffing on the sidelines, all while watching Alatalo cruise around the track holding the lead and crossing the finish line just .76 hundredths of a second better than Hingham, who finished first in the other heat.

"When Rachel got the baton, we already had a huge lead," said Hartsough. "If she had wanted to, she could've run a (split) time in the 70 (second range) and we probably still would've won our heat. But Rachel is just such a competitive person that she never tries any less than her absolute best."

Alatalo admitted that she was very nervous before the race mostly because this would be her first time as an anchor leg, but she came through with flying colors.

"I don't normally run last, so I was a bit nervous about having the entire relay come down to my split," she said. "But when I watched the other three girls gain and keep such a great lead, I stopped being nervous and knew that I just had to run my best time to make sure we kept the lead and didn't lose any ground."

She did stay her ground and after coming off the finish line and waiting for the results, Alatalo and the other girls thought they had the chance of being champions.

"Afterwards, while catching my breath, I was really pumped because 4:11 is one of the fastest times we've run the relay this season," said Alatalo. "And of course it was really exciting to watch the seeded heat and have one of our coaches point out that we were running split for split with the fastest team. It was kind of tense once that race was over and we were just waiting to see which team ran faster, since it was going to come down to tenths of a second."

"We were all just staring at the scoreboard and waiting to hear which town won the 4x4 and when we finally heard our name we all screamed and hugged and were really excited."

The excitement also gives the team a much needed confidence boost knowing they can compete against the very best in Division 3 and with the league and post season meets ahead, perhaps more medals will come their way.

"Looking forward towards the league an state meets, we're all pretty optimistic," said Hartsough. "Everyone on the relay is such a fierce competitor. Other teams will probably hear that we won state relays, which is huge. It's something that really means a lot and is a huge confidence boost in the end of the season. We went to All-States last year for 4x4 and I think we have a great shot of doing that again."

week, first to Burlington 81-72 on Friday night and then to Belmont 66-47 on Tuesday night. The Wildcats are now 2-9 on the season.

The game against Burlington was terrific and a great showing for the Wildcats in their progression. Wilmington trailed by 15 after three quarters before crawling back into single digits in the fourth but couldn't make that giant leap. Senior James Wilkinson had a career performance with 26 points while sophomore Connor Bennett had 18 points and senior Colin Doherty had 14 as the trio combined for 58 of the team's points. Wilmington finished 30-for-35 from the line with both Wilkinson and Bennett finishing 10-for-11.

On Tuesday, Wilmington trailed by two points at half-time at 29-27 before Belmont opened the game up in the second half. Wilkinson finished with 17 and Bennett followed with 13.

Wilmington returns home on Friday to face Arlington before going to Winchester on Tuesday night.

Wilmington/Tewksbury RedCats offer clinic

The Wilmington and Tewksbury RedCats Youth Hockey program is offering a free clinic for all girls interested in trying youth hockey or girls who are currently playing youth hockey. The clinic will be held on Saturday, January 26th at the Janas Rink in Lowell from 6:30-7:20 pm for all Girls age 14 and under.

The clinic will be run by the high school girls' hockey players from the surrounding towns. All participants should pre-register at: girlshockey@tysaredmen.com. For more information, you may contact Coach Herb Post at: headcoach@tysaredmen.com.

For the safety of all participants, the following equipment is required: Single Blade Skates; Fitted Hockey Helmet with Mask (tape your child's name to the front); Elbow and Shin Pads; Hockey Gloves and Neck Guard.

at the Cape Ann League Meet and at the Division 3 North Sectionals, fourth at the Sons of Italy Tournament and at the Division 3 State Meet and fifth at the Marshfield Holiday Tournament.

Last year as a junior, Halliday's wrestling season didn't have as many accomplishments. That's because the week before the season started, he broke his clavicle. He ended up coming back midway during the season but suffered walking pneumonia. Yet he still ended the season with a winning record of 14-3 with ten pins and finished third at the Division 3 North Sectionals.

"I was nowhere near one hundred percent at all last year," he said. "I came back from the injury midway through the season and just battled through it. I'm fine now - it doesn't bother me at all."

Now midway through this season he has a record of 20-5 with 10 pins, which currently gives him a career record of 103-34 with 43 wins coming via pin.

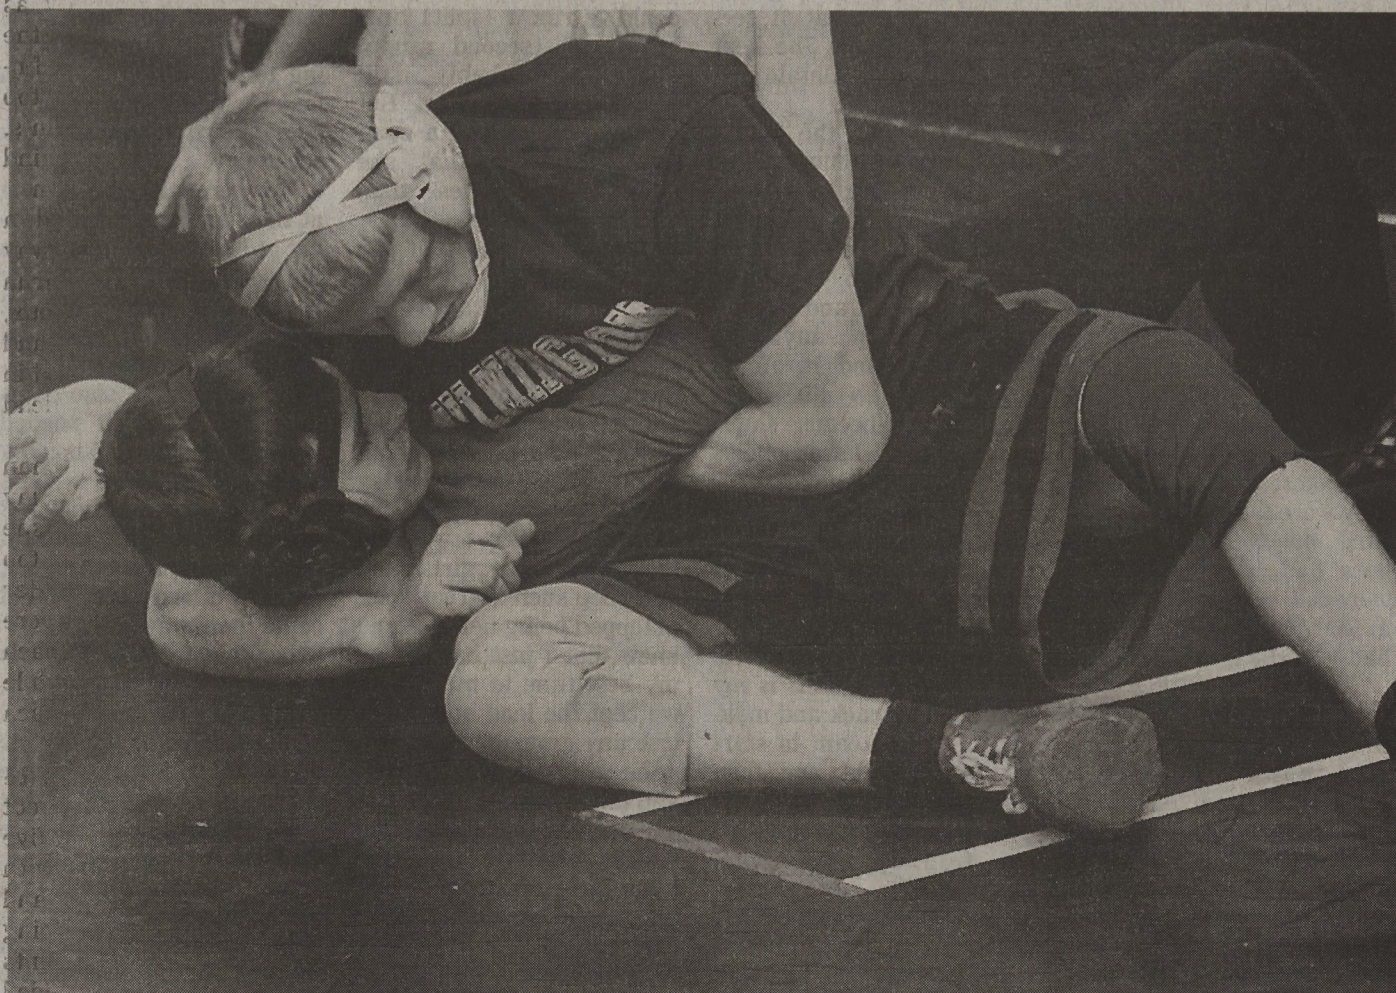

"Cody is an extremely talented wrestler," said head coach Mike Pimental. "He has worked very hard to achieve his level of skill, talent and success. He is continuing his goal towards placing top three in the states this year. Cody is a true pleasure to coach; he listens so well. He understands criticisms both positive and negative. He works so hard to learn from his mistakes and he truly takes everything in stride. Cody's emotions are the same while winning or losing a match. He has been an outstanding role model as a team captain for his team and peers."

Over the next month or so, the regular season will come to an end before the post-season meets are held and Halliday would like nothing better than to finish up very strong and add to his already resume. Whether or not he can place in the top three at the state meet remains to be seen, but he does know that when his final match of his high school and most likely his last one of his life does happen, it's going to be very tough to swallow.

"It's going to be weird," he said. "I know my Dad is already bumming out over it. He loves going. It's going to be tough for me but I want to come back and help the program as much as I can when I get a chance. This program means a lot to me, I love wrestling and it's one of the best things to ever happen to me. Not just with sports but with my overall mindset. That's why I think I'm already so comfortable about going to Norwich and going through their training because of what I've gone through here over the last four years."

The last four years where Cody Halliday has compiled now over 100 career wins, a milestone that only seven other people have accomplished in the history of the program.

WRBL Week Six

Gavin Erickson nets ten to lead Purdue to victory

Big 10
Boys Grade 3
Purdue 24, Minnesota 14
Leading the way for the Boilermakers was Gavin Erickson with a game high 10 points. Erickson scored 6 of his 10 in the second half, with most of them coming on a run to seal the victory. John Rhind and Carter Wright scored 6 and 4 points respectively. Brett DeAmbrose and Nicholas Doyle swished in 2 points each.

For the Golden Gophers, Luke Murphy took control by scoring a team-high 10 points, 6 of which came in the second half on a last attempt surge. Michael Walsh scored 4 points of his own as well.

Wisconsin 28, Michigan 20

Taking charge of the offense for the Badgers was William Stuart with a game high 10 points. Helping out young William was Liam Dwyer with 8 points, 6 of which came in the second half. Dominic Gabardi and Matt Ardito each had 4 points. Steven O'Leary swished in a hoop in the second half.

For the Wolverines, Andrew Scolastico drained 3 shots, leading to 6 points. Brian Duggan and Nicholas Fanele both scored 4 points of their own as well. Jeandre Abel, Joey Zuccola, and Woody Ricupero each swished in a hoop throughout various points of the game.

Nebraska 31, Ohio State 10

Having himself a ballgame on Saturday was Tommy Mallinson, with a game high 11 points. Mallinson had 5 in the second half including a 3 from NBA range. Tyler Bourke played well once again by scoring 10 points. Jack Rooney and Kevin Stevens each had 4 points of their own. The remaining basket was swished in by Jake Dwyer.

After a tough first half for the Buckeyes on Saturday, the team rebounded nicely to put up 10 points in the second half. Will Doucette led this charge by scoring 6 points. Nicholas Cella and Andrew Stokes each had a basket as well.

Iowa 22, Indiana 16

The one word that can describe Iowa's offensive approach is balance. Leading the way was Joseph McLaren with a game high 8 points, 6 of which came in the second half. Jake Warford was right behind him with 6 points of his own. Michael Moody and Jake Malloy both had 4 points.

For Indiana, Joseph Dynan tied for the game high in points with 8, only 6 of his came in the first half. Craig McHugh swished in 4 points, all coming in the second half.

Charles Gardner and Keegan Gray both had a basket.

Big East
Boys Grades 4&5
Providence 26, Cincinnati 24

The guard tandem of Reid Cote and Aaron Babu led Providence; both played complete games helping on offense as well as defense. The two combined for 17 points, (Cote had 8, Babu had 9) as well as an array of steals and quality defense plays pushing the tempo for their team.

Evan Vachon came in right behind these two with 7 points, and the final 2 came from Matt Chisholm, who played a very good overall game as well. Cincinnati was led by their big man Tyler Newhouse who had 12 points, as well as just as many rebounds if not more.

Tristan Ciampa and Thomas Abbott combined for the last 12 points both playing solid games. Colton Sullivan and Derek Ingram both played very well for Cincinnati bringing a lot of energy to the defensive side of the ball. Unfortunately the effort was not enough down the stretch to get the win.

DePaul 36, Marquette 27

The leading scorer for DePaul as well as the game was Dominic Pedi, who had a dominating 28 points. He also played very well defensively doing a quality job on the boards as well as being a dominating force as a shot blocker.

The final 8 points came from Timothy Trevisone who had 6, and Ryan Messinger who had 2. Mark Messinger and Christopher McElligott both had quality games for the team; their energy as well as the teams' helped push the team to a victory.

Zachary Morris had his best game of the season for Marquette with a team high 12 points. Derek Gallucci and Ryan Martin both had good offensive games (Gallucci had 7 points, while Martin had 6) keeping their team in it for a good portion of the game. Colin Gates and Evan Willis both had very good games, but in the end it wasn't enough to stop DePaul and their inside presence.

Louisville 29, Syracuse 10

Louisville played another team game this week with 8 of their 9 guys getting on the scoreboard. Their points leader was Sean Kelley who had 9, but he couldn't have done it without his point guard Joseph DeMonico, who had another great game. He did a good job of keeping everyone involved including Steven Contrada who was the second leading scorer with 6 points. Nick Sullivan and Jack Gaglione both played great games with 2 points apiece to go along with some extremely tough defense.

For Syracuse the leading scorer was Ryan Clarke who had 4 points. Gregory Adamek, who also played well, scored 2 points. James Valente had one of his best games of the year on the defensive side of the ball, while also adding 2 points to the teams' offensive effort. Hayden Kane and Atley Miller both had big games on the boards.

Villanova 24, Rutgers 4

Richie McNamara had his most dominating performance of the season, playing every part of the game to the fullest. He had 18 points as well as several assists and steals controlling the game right from the start. Patrick McAndrew and Stephen Smolinsky both had impressive offensive performances (McAndrew had 8 points and Smolinsky had 6). Evan Witalisz and Jake Danielli both played complete games, offensively and defensively, to add on to Villanova's impressive victory.

The scorers for Rutgers were Michael Brown and Justin LaFauci who both had 2 points. Jared Benoit and Max Wright both played good games as well; with tough defense laying it all on the line to try and keep the high powered Villanova offense at bay. Unfortunately the shots just didn't fall for Rutgers this week and they will look to get back on track next week.

U. Conn 22, Pittsburgh 15

Michael Hersom goes on the list of players who had their best games of the season this week. Hersom, who had 10 points, played a very good overall game on offense and defense helping U. Conn get an extremely sweet victory. Helping him along the way were teammates Christopher Wong and Vincent Scalfani who both had 4 points, with the final 2 points coming from Jacob Fox. Christian Bolanos and Matthew Miller played quality games helping U. Conn surge for a big win.

Devin Milano had 7 points for Pitt leading the team in that category; Shane Spencer had a clutch bucket in the second half as well. Adam Kulis played a very good game knocking down two clutch free throws along with some tough defense. Stephen Daley brought his best defense to the table helping Pitt stay in the game; it was a quality effort but Pitt just didn't have enough to ward off U. Conn.

Notre Dame 19, Georgetown 18

The leading scorers for Notre Dame were Joseph Hansen and Aidan Ryan who both had 6 points. Sean Murray played a very smooth game offensively with a quiet 4 points from some jumpers on the baseline. Jacob Febbo had 2 points of his own; he also played some hounding defense down the stretch to help solidify the victory for his Notre Dame team.

Christian Robarge had 8 of his teams' 18 points to lead Georgetown in that category. Helping him out were teammates Alex Boehm and Dylan Clerico who both had 4 points, with the final 2 coming from Patrick McCarthy. Peter DiAdamo and Nathan Curdo both brought a lot of energy to the Georgetown team down the stretch, but in the end it wasn't enough to pull out the victory.

Conference USA
Boys Grades 6&7
Central Florida 31, Memphis 26

Leading the way for Central Florida was Tommy Worob who had a game high 9 points. Helping out Tommy was Christian Beltran who had 6 points on two 3's and Brendan Ceres who had 4 points of his own. Sam Wilson was a brick house throughout the whole game, making rebounding for Memphis virtually impossible.

For Memphis, Jack Boyle had a breakout offensive showing with a team high 8 points. Tyler Roberts had 6 points of his own, with 4 of them coming in the second half. Coleman Kelly displayed everything he could to try and jumpstart Memphis' offense.

Tulane 33, Rice 31

In what was probably the most exciting game from the docket on Saturday, Domingo Gonzalez picked a great time to showcase his offense. Gonzalez tied for the game high in points with 13, including 9 in the first half. Joseph McInney also played well by dropping in 6 points of his own. Shiv Patel had a clutch basket late in the second half to really shift the momentum in Tulane's favor.

Taking command for Rice was Matthew Hansen. Hansen scored 13 points as well, including 7 of them in the second half, and truly taking command of the inside. Joshua Bartnicki and Jason Vallee also performed well by scoring 8 points each. Joey DeSario and Cameron Sousa were the two toughest players on the floor.

Southern Miss 49, SMU 34

Having a breakout performance for Southern Miss was Connor Benoit. Benoit came out of nowhere to drop a game high 15 points, including 9 in the first half. Benoit's performance really set the tone for Southern Miss. Kellan Hardy had himself a nice ball game also by scoring 11 points. Sean Lynch and Devin Clerico's outstanding man-to-man defense really closed the door for any potential comeback. SMU on the other hand was led by a dual scoring threat.

Both Michael Daley and Thomas Hogan scored 10 points each. Matthew Hersom played well with 7 points of his own. Harry Germano had some high quality passes, leading to easy hoops.

Houston 46, Marshall 26

Houston came out guns a blazing and put this game away early. Leading the way for Houston was Brett Tavares with a game high 22 points, including four 3's. Matthew Rideout also exploded on offense by scoring a season high 15 points. Scott Falzano was the third player to score in double figures and he added in 10. For Marshall, Niko Barone bounced back to have a nice game by scoring 14 points of his own, with 12 of them coming in the first half. Andrew Miller and Christopher Deschenes had 5 and 3 points respectively.

Tulsa 31, E. Carolina 16

Taking a balanced scoring approach, Tulsa won by having 7 different players score. Once again leading the way was Andrew Dalio with a game high 8 points. Michael Soel and Troy Riekstins both chipped in with 6 points each. Nicholas Moore had some real nice passes, leading to easy hoops for his teammates.

On the other side, leading the way for E. Carolina was Brandon O'Donoghue and Kevin O'Donnell with 4 points each. Offensively, six different players scored for the Pirates. A highlight for E. Carolina was Angelo Perrino, with three of four from the free throw line.

NBA
Boys Grades 8-10
Suns 34, Knicks 23

The Suns and Knicks battled in a close game this week with the Suns triumphing with a 9 point victory. The duo of Dan Bell and Camden Connor led the way with 10 and 9 points respectively. Nick Skeirik followed close behind throwing in 6 points of his own. Dan Valeria added another 4 and Cameron Walsh contributed 3. Brad Fisher scored the final deuce in the victory. Ian Palmer had an amazing defensive game.

The Knicks put up a great fight, with Zachary Ahlin and DJ Kenney leading the attack with 8 points apiece. Nicholas Trevisone finished with 4 points and Ryan Aldrich added another 2. Adam Patton scored his point on a free throw.

Pistons 38, Bulls 36

The Pistons took the Bulls by the horns in an epic battle this week. Ryan Flood was a star for the Pistons dropping 13 total points on 4 of 6 shooting from the free throw line, a three pointer, and three shots from close range. Kevin Richardson followed Flood's performance with 8 points of his own. Four other Pistons finished with 4 points: Michael Lulsdorf, Brandon Belmonte, Mason Ouellette, and Nick Fanikos. Brendan Daley rounded out the scoring with a basket for 2 points.

The Bulls played a tremendous game of both offense and defense, but they fell just short. Andrew Vellucci led his team with 10 points, including two treys. Andrew Medros was next in line with 8 points, and Brendan McInney added 7 of his own. Alex Fischer threw in another 6, while Brian Neal and Jack Sweeney contributed 2 points apiece, with Daniel Tetreault scoring the final point.

Wizards 46, Nuggets 28

The Wizards' Peter Daley came out with a vengeance this week looking to get his team back on the winning track. He finished with an astounding 22 points, scoring 15 in the first half and 7 in the second. Daley converted on two long range shots; one in each half and another eight shots from inside the arc. Teammate Marlin Felisberto also had a stellar day scoring 16 points of his own. Together, the two combined for 38 of the team's 46 points. Colin Stanford added another 4 points, while Josh Gentner and Thomas Simmons each scored a basket.

The Nuggets were once again led by Jordan Russo. This week, Russo scored 17 points on an evenly balanced game of eight points in the first and nine in the second. His teammates Brandon Medbery and Matthew Kahlman combined for the other 11 points scoring 6 and 5 points respectively.

Hornets 31, Nets 29

The Hornets and Nets both had great games this week, but the extra sting of the Hornets enabled them to edge the Nets by just 2 points. Steven McInnis continues to have a great season as he once again led his Hornets team. This week, McInnis finished with 21 points. He came out strong in the first twenty minutes dropping 13 of his 21 points. Luke McInnis added another 4 points, while Anthony Luti, Anthony Brown, and Matthew DeAmbrose each contributed 2 points in the victory.

The Nets' Justin Leger led the team with 10 points. Leger finished with two treys. The other 19 points were evenly spread out among the other players with each person contributing with a score or a great pass: Brendan Pierce had 4; Pat Dunfey, Bradley Priem, and Nick Poli each had 3; and Darin MacEacheron, Michael DeMarco, and Tyler Hamilton all had 2 points on the day.

Lakers 31, Heat 30
The Lakers win on Saturday was a memorable one. The Lakers continued to use their balanced offense, and this week it truly paid off. The duo of Ed Germano and Kevin Burke led the way combining for 15 of the team's 31 points. Germano finished with 8, while Burke finished with 7. Josh Sultan followed closely behind his teammates with 6 points of his own.

Cameron Albert got in on the action contributing 4 points, while Mike Cocco, Scott Burke, and Joseph Visalli all finished with 2 points.

The Heat continued to play well this week, but they were unable to overcome the one point deficit. Rob Fullerton stepped up this week to lead his team with 16 points. Fullerton converted on 6-of-8 from the free throw line. Tim Benoit added 6 points, while four other Heat players finished with a deuce: Harley Monteiro, Liam

Rooney, Jake Tague, and Scott Edwards.

Atlantic 10
Girls Grades 3&4
Dukesne 18,
LaSalle 14

Dukesne won over LaSalle Saturday as Rebecca Dillon exploded for a game-high 8 points. Shooting a very high percentage from her forward position, Kaitlyn Doherty scored 4 points. Alexa Kelley had 2 points, and Nina Koester and Celia Kulis had a basket apiece. Janelle Penney, Emily Watson, and Amanda Sullivan all played a great all around game on both ends of the floor.

LaSalle's scoring attack was led by Samantha Papastathis (6 points). Antonia Brunetto added 2 points and Katie Stone, scoring inside, had 4 points. Ella Malvone (1 point), Mackenzie Canning and Madison Wareham (1 point) worked hard on the defensive end to prevent Dukesne from penetrating to the basket.

Kari Wells, Olivia Rogers and Sofia Donovan's aggressive play gave LaSalle a rebounding edge and caused multiple turnovers.

Xavier 25, Fordham 23
Andrea Turner (6 points) raised the excitement level in the gym by connecting on a long outside shot as time expired helping Xavier edge Fordham in the final seconds of the game on Saturday. Allison Rebeiro (4 points) and Leila McLaren (4 points) both shot well and played a solid all around game. Kiara Nadeau led all scorers with 10 points.

Crisp, accurate passing by Emily McHugh and Olivia Dennett allowed easy baskets for teammates. The defensive intensity of Caroline Rooney, Allie Ford and Jenna Moore (1 point) was rewarded with many Fordham turnovers.

Molly Ardito (10 points) and Grace Ardito's (6 points) shooting kept Fordham neck and neck with Xavier until the last seconds. Alyssa Granara (3 points), Krista Gabaree (2 points) and Gabrielle deVerbigier (2 points) made their presence felt during the entire game.

Emily Freitas and Shea Cushing did an excellent job of shutting down the passing lanes on defense to stall Xavier's offense. Alison Celata and Samantha Thompson rebounded well and made excellent outlet passes.

Rhode Island 18, Dayton 11

A strong offensive outing for Madison Guy (6 points) helped give Rhode Island a win over Dayton. Excellent shooting by Nokomis Bramantecohen (4 points), Ida Bishop (2 points) and Ashley MacGilvray (2 points) added to Rhode Island's point total. Sara Buckley (1 point) and Laura Tran (1 point) scored from the free throw line after being fouled. Christianna Bittarelli and Kayla Smith's hustle on the defensive end of the floor stood out.

Alexandra Vale (4 points) and Alyssa Schuurman (3 points) led Dayton's offense. Elizabeth Stokes (2 points) and Alessia Puccio passed well on offense and gave their full effort on defense. Abigail Widomski, Alexa Leone and Teagan McDonald submitted excellent defensive performances. Grace Leone (2 points) played well underneath the basket all game long.

ACC
Girls Grades 5&6
Maryland 22,
Clemson 14

Spectacular outside shooting by Maryland's Emma Garrity gave her a team-high 10 points and Maryland a win this past Saturday. Supporting Garrity's scoring efforts were Maura Sullivan (2 points) and sharpshooter Jennifer Mills, who scored 4 points in a solid performance.

The defense played by Jessica Stevens, Olivia Brooks and Danielle Liscio turned out to be a real obstacle for Clemson's offense.

Emily Gear (2 points) and Emma Surette (4 points) did a great job defending in the low post, and Mansi Thakkar and Katie McConologue made Clemson's guards work extremely hard with their defense.

Meghan Abbey, Delaney Diaz and Raegan Sweeney led Clemson's offense with 3 points each. Julia Willson (2 points) and Victoria McGloughlin (1 point) both played exceptional games. Meghan Canale and Shauna Pierce made some nice defensive stops and rebounded well. Shannon Abbey (2 points) played tight defense all over the floor.

Miami 24, Duke 13

Brittany Cimaglia scored a game-high 10 points to help lift Miami over Duke Saturday. Zahraa Warren had 8 points and Allyson Buckley had 4 points as the tandem shot with pinpoint accuracy from the outside.

Offensive rebounding by Sophia Bonaccorsi (2 points), April Haines (4 points) and Cassidy Spear allowed Miami multiple shots each time down the floor. Amanda Tran, Evelyn Miller-Nuzzo and Meagan Pennie's pressure on defense forced Duke to alter its game strategy.

Playing with only six players, Duke eventually succumbed to the depth of Miami's bench. Duke's efforts were led by Gianna Brunetto (8 points) and Jessica Ahern (4 points). Anna Rideout had some strong rebounds and played flawless defense.

Alexa Williams and Kiki Barnum's defense on the perimeter made it difficult for Miami to get to the basket. Excellent rebounding by Christie Cappiello on the defensive boards kept Miami's second shots to a minimum.

WNBA

Girls Grades 7-10
Sky 38, Storm 18

Leading the way once again for the Sky was Siobhan Turner. This week, Siobhan finished with 9 points. Raniece Turner, Alana Turner, and Jessica Backman all followed closely behind throwing in 6 points apiece. Nicole Watkins threw in a trey and a deuce to finish with 5 points, while Liza Lake had 4 points on the day.

Emily Carroll rounded out the scoring with 2 points of her own. Jenn Tague had a great game for the Sky on both ends of the court.

The Storm was led by Kristin Brown's 6 point performance and Sofia Puccio's 4 point performance. Jessica Burke, Kaitlin Carter, Samantha MacInnis, and Shannon Mota all chipped in with 2 points. Victoria Tompkins made many great passes to her teammates to lead to baskets.

Mercury 39, Sparks 25

Mercury has built a mini win streak in the past two weeks. The duo of Katelyn Stevens and Hailey Liston led the way to victory as they combined for 25 of the 39 total points. Stevens finished as the game's top scorer with 14 points. Liston was right behind with 11 points of her own.

Kyra Walsh also had a great day walking away with 8 points. Kiarha Valera, Jackie Champoux, Katelyn Biggins, and Kendra Swift all chipped in with a basket to help lead the Mercury to victory.

The Sparks' Siobhan Reidy continues to play well this season as she again was the team's top scorer with 12 points. Her teammates, Jessica Moore and Marci Zaccardi, each finished with 4 points, while Holly Doyle and Veronica Reidy each had 2 points.

Liberty 20, Mystics 14

The Liberty spread out their offense among five different players with Samantha Rideout and Nicole Mallinson topping the board with 6 points each. Helena Walker added another 4, while Abby Gentner and Krista Brown each finished with 2. Macy Doucette had a standout defensive game for the Liberty causing many Mystic turnovers.

The Mystics' Rachel Gullotto led the way with 6 points. Shannon O'Grady followed right behind with 4 points, while Lauren Field and Mia O'Connell each had 2. Christine John and Lauren Field showed tremendous hustle and determination on both ends of the court.

Shawsheen Tech Round-Up

Co-Ed Swim team off to 6-2 start

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA – It's been a great season so far for the Shawsheen Tech Co-Ed Swimming/Diving team and this past week was no exception. The Rams posted a 1-1 record on the week, picking up an 84-71 win over CAC rival Minuteman last Wednesday on the road, before falling to perennial league powerhouse Mystic Valley by a score of 96-82 at home on Friday.

The Rams were equally impressive in both the win and the loss, as the setback to Mystic Valley was their best-ever performance against their rivals from Malden.

The 1-1 week leaves the Rams with a 6-2 record on the season, with two meets as well as the CAC Championships still remaining. Both Shawsheen losses this season have come to Mystic Valley, but with a roster stocked with freshmen and sophomores, it seems clear that the Rams will be able to do much more than just keep the score close in the years to come.

"We are in really good shape this season and I think we have a great future," said Shawsheen coach J.P. Borriello. "We have a lot of talented freshmen who have stepped right in and done a great job for us."

One of the freshmen that has contributed the most this season has been Ryan Phelan. Phelan had a pair of wins in the Rams victory over Minuteman, taking the 500-meter freestyle as well as being part of the 400-meter freestyle relay team. He also took home the win in the 500 over Mystic in a time of 6:11.81 and finished second in the 200-meter individual medley.

"It's nice to know that he is going to be around a while," Borriello said. "He can do anything. We can put him anywhere and he will be successful."

Against Minuteman the Rams swept the 500, with senior Anthony Federico of Wilmington and freshman Molly Harrington following close behind Phelan's lead. It is an event the Rams have dominated for most of the season with Chris Barczak normally leading the way.

With Barczak out against Minuteman, the Rams did not skip a beat.

"We changed things up a little against Minuteman, but we have done very well in it all year," Borriello said. It is an event that requires a lot of versatility and a lot of stamina. We are very fortunate to have some of our younger guys doing well in the 500 and the 100 butterfly, which are probably the two hardest events."

Sophomore Robert Eisenhauer also picked up a pair of wins for the Rams, as part of the 200-medley relay as well as the 400-freestyle relay. Eisenhauer was also second in the 100-butterfly, and he would win the event against Mystic on Friday.

Federico is not letting the newcomers have all the fun, however. The senior from Wilmington is also having an outstanding season, and this past week was no exception as he was part of both winning relay teams along with his second-place finish in the 500.

"Anthony has been with us for four years and we are glad we still have him around. He is great with the butterfly, but he is so versatile we can put him anywhere," Borriello said. "Eisenhauer is the same way. He is a very versatile kid."

The Rams have also been picking up some key points in the Diving event. Chrissy Duggan was first in the event against Mystic Valley, continuing a fine season she has been having in the event along with Victoria Comeau.

"It's an event we have not been too strong in over the years, but this year we have two senior girls who have really worked on their skills and have improved," Borriello said. "If we are able to pick up ten or twelve points in a meet it can make a big difference."

Other multiple place finishers for the Rams against Minuteman were Cam Rebidue, who was second in the 100-freestyle while also being a part of the 200-medley relay, Molly Harrington, who won the 200 freestyle and was third in the 500, Lauren Barletta who was first in the 200 I.M., Jenn Cawley who won the 100 backstroke and was third in the 100 butterfly.

After finishing up their regular season with meets against Northeast and Blue Hills Regional of Canton this week, the Rams will prepare for the CAC and State Vocational meets on January 30th and 31st.

While Mystic will provide some stiff competition in the CAC Meet, they will not be part of the voke meet and Borriello is confident that both the boys and girls can do very well. The teams compete separately in the meet, and the girls won it last year.

"I am very excited about this year," Borriello said. "In years past we have always done well with the girls, but this year we have twenty boys and eighty percent of them can do different strokes. I think they both have a great chance to be number one in the voke

GIRLS HOCKEY

The Shawsheen Girls Hockey team kept their start tournament hopes very much alive with a big 6-0 win over Brookline last Saturday at BU's Walter Brown Arena. The win improved the Lady Rams record at the time to 4-6-1 on the season, and though they suffered a tough 7-1 loss undefeated Beverly on Monday to drop them to 4-7-1 they are still in good position to make a run at the post season with several winnable games on their schedule down the stretch.

"It is definitely within reach," Shawsheen coach Bob Roach said. "It all depends on how we play. We have some teams we have already beaten still on our schedule, but we still have to play well to beat them. But we also have to find a way to win one of our games against one of the better teams we will face."

Of their eight remaining games on the schedule, two are against Bishop Fenwick and Peabody who the Lady Rams blew out earlier this season, and two are against Marblehead and Cambridge against whom they suffered close losses. It is the other three games, two against Masconomet and one against Burlington that will decide their fate.

If their performance against Brookline was any indication then Shawsheen certainly looks to be tournament ready. The Lady Rams were led by a hat trick by freshman Sarah King. King also added an assist on the day and now leads the team with 18 goals and four assists. Her 18 goals are tied for third most among all girls in Division 2.

"She is a good solid player, especially for a freshman," Roach said. "As good as she is, she always gives one hundred and ten percent in practice and in games. She is our hardest working player. She sees the ice very well, and she is a good all around player."

While King has led the way for the Lady Rams, she is hardly alone in providing offense for the team, and she was not alone on Saturday either, as Shawhseen also got goals from sophomore Kaitlyn O'Shea, junior Rachel McLaren of Wilmington and senior Kristen Carroll of Tewksbury. O'Shea and McLaren also each added assists.

"You're not going to win with just one player doing the scoring," Roach said. "Rachel has been really solid the past couple of weeks as have Kristen and Kaitlyn. Kennedy Harper has been playing well also. Really we have had the whole team contribute and that is what we need to do to win."

Harper, who led the Lady Rams in scoring last season, is second on the team this season with 10 goals and 11 assists for 21 points, followed closely by O'Shea (10-9-19), McLaren (8-8-12) and Carroll (5-4-9).

WRESTLING

Their dreams of a perfect season came to an end on Monday afternoon with a loss to third ranked St. John's Prep, but the Shawsheen Tech Wrestling team is still in the midst of a tremendous season, with a 17-1 record on the year, including wins over Masconomet Regional and Josiah Quincy as part of the same quad meet.

The Rams downed Masco by a score of 51-18 and topped Josiah Quincy by a score of 50-12, while losing to St. John's Prep 46-18.

Despite the loss to St. John's Prep, Shawsheen coach Mark Donovan was pleased with his team's performance against one of the best teams in the state, as they suffered many close losses that could have gone either way and changed the complexion of the meet.

"They were better than us that day no question about it," Donovan said. "But we were right there with them. We had one kid tied 0-0 in the third period who lost, another who was leading his match 15-4 and then got caught in a pin, and another who was leading 10-2 and got pinned. They were better than us, but hopefully we will see them again in the sectionals and we will do better against them."

Devonn Pratt (152) and Ryan Powderly (120) each went 3-0 on the day for the Rams, while Dustin Thibault (182) was 2-0. Dilan Kenney (126), Matt Mann (132) and Nick Hoar (170) were each 2-1 for the Rams.

Prior to Monday's quad meet the Rams, currently ranked 13th in Massachusetts, had rolled to victories over King Phillip (50-11) and 20th ranked Pembroke (48-18) in a tri-meet on Saturday.

Hoar and Kenney went 2-0 with a pair of pins on the day for the Rams.

"Dylan is a senior captain and he is wrestling well for us," Donovan said. "He had been out sick for a while, so he is just no getting back to being healthy and he should ust keep getting better.

"Nick is starting to heat up for us. He is just getting better and better. He is a real throwback with the way he works."

Matt Mann (132) of Tewksbury and Bryan Reppucci (195) of Wilmington also each picked up a pair of wins for the Rams, winning once by pin and once by decision.

"Matt is just a great kid," Donovan said. "He's got a 3.9 GPA and is in the top 10 percent of his class, and he is one of the strongest kids on the team, pound for pound. He is a workaholic just like Devonn Pratt and is a pleasure to coach."

"Bryan wrestled at 220 last year, but has committed himself to 195 this year and has done a great job. He is starting to keep his weight down and should be really strong by the end of the year. He is a kid who has improved so much since he started with us and he should be proud of what he has accomplished here. He is a big part of our team and is one of our best leaders even without being a captain."

Tim Ward (138), Devonn Pratt (152) and Dustin Thibault (182) were also multiple winners for the Rams.

Last Wednesday the Rams got their week off to a great start with a 50-12 win over cross town rival Billerica, with all but one Ram victory on the night coming via pin. It was a dominant effort that even the hard to impress Donovan was very pleased with.

"That's about as good as we have wrestled all year," Donovan said. "Billerica is a good rivalry for us, and it was our last home Wednesday match of the season so the kids were really fired up. It was probably the wrong time to be coming to our school to face us."

As good as the Rams have been, Donovan knows they can be even better, and he hopes that they will be as they head into their post season tournaments.

"I am happy we are 17-1. That has to stand for something," Donovan said. "But I still think we can better ourselves every day. We had a great practice today and the kids are continuing to work hard. We have some goals for ourselves like winning the vocational tournament and the CAC Tournament. We will take care of those things and then go from there."

The Rams will compete in the Massachusetts State Vocational Tournament this weekend at Greater Lowell in Tyngsboro. They will be looking for their seventh straight voke championship and Donovan says they are looking forward to the challenge.

"We are definitely going in as the favorites and if we go out there and wrestle the way we are capable of we should win," Donovan said. "But it is hard to always be the team that everyone is gunning for. Everyone wants to knock us off. I told the kids that we are hated, but that is a good thing. We are hated because we have had so much success. We still have to show up and give our best every time we go out there, because they all want to beat us."

Foley earns fifth shut out as 'Cats win tenth game

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

After limiting a very good Arlington team to just eight shots through the first two periods of Saturday afternoon's Middlesex League cross-over game, the defensive effort by Wilmington suddenly went to sleep in the third period. Luckily enough the Wildcats have an Ace goalie, who once again proved he is a King in-between the pipes. Junior Drew Foley turned away 13 shots in the third period and 21 in all to earn his fifth shutout of the season and help the Wildcats improve to 10-2-0 with a 2-0 victory over the Spy Ponders played at Ristuccia Arena.

Earning the victory against a very good club is certainly something to enjoy but head coach Steve Scanlon wasn't thrilled after this one.

"It's the result that we are looking for as we're trying to take the two points and we are knocking on the door to qualify for the state tournament," he said as the team has won two games in a row since the tough loss to Malden Catholic ten days ago. "We have 20 points now but we need 21 as we're playing 21 games this year. I thought we played good in the first period, pretty good in the second period but in the third period we came out and we forgot how to play defense. And it's not like we forgotten how to play, it's that we don't want to do the work. We rely way too much on Drew (Foley) - too much so. That's tough to see."

Foley is playing as well as he ever has at this point of the season. He has given up just 13 goals in a little less than ten games this season. And he's doing it against some of the best teams in all of Eastern Mass, whether it be Arlington, Malden Catholic, Woburn or Burlington, he has played extremely well ever since getting the starting nod last year as a sophomore where he led the Wildcats to their Division 2 state championship title.

"We should have put the game away earlier and we didn't," said Scanlon. "We were severely outplayed in the third period. Without our goalie, they could have easily come back and beat us. As usual he played very well but we rely way too much on him. We have a week off now and it's our last chance to rest before the stretch run so we have to go back to work on the defensive stuff. In the first two periods we were skating hard, putting pucks to the net and we had many chances but we couldn't put the puck in the net."

Wilmington scored both of its goals in a span of 3:38 - both coming with under four minutes to go in the first period. Off a face-off in the Arlington end, Brendan McDonough put a quick shot on net that was saved but the rebound was put home by captain Cam Owens for what turned out to be the game winner.

Then with 23 seconds left in the period, Wilmington showed strong passing as Cam Collins found Owens, who found McDonough, who from the left side came across the middle of the ice and put a nice backhand over the glove side of the Arlington goalie making it 2-0.

Wilmington outshot Arlington 14-4 in the second period but couldn't find the back of the net. Then in the third period the Spy Ponders were all over the Wildcats holding a 13-7 advantage in the shot department. The Wildcats played poorly in their defensive end and didn't generate much offensively, especially with the loss of Owens who sat out the third period after rolling his ankle in the second period.

"We'll take the win and move on but we're going to face an even better team next week in Winchester," said Scanlon. "They are very good. They have a kid back from the Pingree School is a very good player."

Wilmington will be on the road in its next two games facing Winchester on Saturday at 4:00 pm at the O'Brien Rink in Woburn before a rematch with a tough Stoneham squad on Wednesday.

Before the Wildcats defeated Arlington, they topped Belmont 6-1 last Wednesday behind a natural hat trick from Owens, who netted all three of his goals in the second period. Anthony Castellano, Dylan DiNatale (his fourth in two games) and Austin O'Neal (his second in three games after not scoring in the first nine) had the other tallies while McDonough grabbed two assists. Foley played the first two periods and stopped all eight shots before Brodie Curtis made seven saves playing in the third period.

Track teams fare well at relay meet

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

ROXBURY - The Wilmington High School Boys and Girls Track-and-Field teams enjoyed tremendous success at this past Sunday's Class C State Relay Meet held at the Reggie Lewis Center in Roxbury.

The Boys team finished in fourth place out of 45 schools with four teams placing in the top six to help the Wildcats achieve 25 team points. The girls on the other hand, finished in eighth place and were led by its first-place 4x400 relay team, consisting of Kelly Hartsough, Cassie Grasso, Rachel Alatalo and Michelle Barnes, who had a combined time of 4:11.16 from the unseeded heat.

Starting with the boys club, head coach Mike Kinney was thrilled with his team's performance as the 'Cats finished behind Hingham (48), Danvers (35.5) and league rival Burlington (27).

"The team established themselves as one of the elite teams in the division and it was a total team effort," said Kinney. "I could not be more proud of this team. They are relentless in their pursuit of excellence, and their hard work is paying off. The captains Andrew Sears, Pat Barry, Erik Alatalo, and Steve Halas led the way in this great team performance (by their work ethic) at every practice."

The top performance on the day was in the final event, the 4x400 where the foursome of Pat Barry, Colin Chase, Andrew Sears and Steve Halas (fresh off his run around town on Saturday afternoon) ran a personal best time of 3:33.88 to come in second place.

"It was a neck-and-neck battle with Hingham the entire time," said Kinney. "We just fell a few meters behind Hingham."

Wilmington had three teams finish in third place. The 4x800 relay team of Erik Alatalo, Peter Warren, Sears and Halas set a school record with a time of 8:19.88. The shot put trio of Eli Jennings, Jon, Weaver, and Dave Cairra came through in the clutch with big throws of 48'6", 40'9", and 40'3" respectively, while the high jump team of Chase, Wayne Huynh, and Barry cleared a combined height of 15'11", which tied them for third place.

The 4x50 dash team just missed out on placing with a seventh place finish and a time of 30.27 seconds behind the efforts of Luke McInnis, Huynh, Barry, and Mike Marinella. The Sprint Medley team of Jared Walsh, Evan Sperlinga, Connor Townsend and Craig Smith came in 11th and covered a mile in 3:57 and Kinney also pinpointed the effort of senior Zach O'Neil who ran strong legs in both the 4x200 and the Sprint Medley.

As for the Girls team, their only points came from the first place finish by the 4x400 relay team. However, there were other bright spots including the 4x800 relay team of Hartsough, Sydnee Russo, Kate Richardson and Jackie Parece, who came in with a state qualifying combined time of 10:15 which just missed out on placing as they team finished seventh overall.

The 4x200 relay team also qualified for the state meet as the foursome of Alatalo, Grasso, Sam Pitzi and Casey McFall finished with a combined time of 1:53. Finally the high jump trio of Richardson, Maria Patrone and Savannah Hubbard combined to clear 13-07.75 to finish ninth overall.

WRESTLING

This past week, the Wilmington High School Wrestling team finished 2-2 in its dual meets, first topping Middlesex League rival Lexington 52-22 last Wednesday, before going 1-2 in a quad meet on Saturday defeating Saugus 65-12 but losing to Wakefield 48-30 and Pentucket 42-39, putting the team's overall record at 3-10.

In the win over Lexington, the highlight of the match was senior Cody Halliday, who pinned his opponent Evan Zarba at the 58 second mark to give him his 100th victory in his tremendous career at WHS. Also picking up wins via pin included Colin Hoffman (113), Matt Diorio (126), Mike Diorio (132), Gaven Carta (145) and Stan Dancewicz (195). Nick Troy also won by a major decision at the 160-pound division.

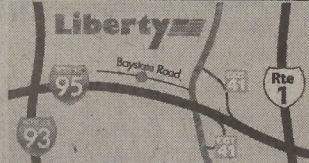

In the quad-meet, Hoffman at 113 (2 pins), Cody Halliday at 145 (2 pins), Carta at 152 (3 pins) and Matt Diorio at 126 (1 pin) all went 3-0, while Troy went 2-1 at 160 pounds with a pair of pins.

Led the fight to pass 'Melissa's Bill'

Jim Dwyer enters third term as enthusiastically as he started

By GORDON VINCENT

In the representative republic format of government, there are two prevailing legislative philosophies.

One is that an office-holder has been given a personal mandate by virtue of his election (see: Bush, George W.). The other is that the office-holder is a conduit to his constituents, and his duty is to vote their expressed, collective will.

State Rep. James Dwyer, D-Woburn, is firmly in the latter camp.

"I'm going to listen to my constituents," said Dwyer, who recently visited the Daily Times Chronicle's Woburn office with his legislative aide, Joe Demers. "Government is about listening to the people who elected you, and being their voice, and representing their best interests."

No more was that evident than during the previous legislative term, when Dwyer found himself one of the leading proponents of "Melissa's Bill," a law that keeps violent repeat criminal offenders from achieving parole.

Dwyer's advocacy position was borne from the tragic murder of Woburn Police officer John Maguire in 2010 during a department store robbery in Woburn by a repeat offender who had been released on parole.

Dwyer and others teamed with resident Les Gosule, whose daughter, Melissa, had been similarly murdered by a repeat offender who by logic should not have been let out of prison.

"If you had told me before (Maguire) was killed that I would have spent more than half my term advocating for parole reform, I wouldn't have believed you," said Dwyer. "But I knew Jack Maguire. I know Jack's family. It's those personal relationships you make while you're doing this job that motivate you every day."

Earlier this month, Dwyer began his third term representing the 30th Middlesex district, which includes precincts 2-5 in Reading, and wards 2-6 in Woburn. The composition of the district has changed slightly in that one precinct in Stoneham was exchanged for one in Reading.

"As much as I enjoyed representing the people of Stoneham, it (new district configuration) makes sense," said Dwyer. "It's a better use of my time to be representing two communities instead of three, and Stoneham benefits because it's now represented by one person (Rep. Jason Lewis of Winchester) instead of two."

Dwyer and his legislative peers are currently awaiting their committee assignments, which will be determined by the House Speaker, Robert DeLeo. While Dwyer and DeLeo are on good terms, his advocacy for Melissa's Bill in the previous term cost him his spot on the Judiciary Committee.

"The Speaker is a tremendous legislator, a great leader, and he's put a great deal of faith in me, but I get in trouble sometimes because I don't vote in lockstep with the leadership," said Dwyer. "But the people who elected me expect me to vote in their behalf, and I have to listen to their concerns."

The Internet age and social media have had a double edge for the legislative process. While it's easier for constituents to contact their legislators, it's almost too easy to fire off an angry e-mail than it is to pick up the phone. Dwyer prefers old-fashioned telephone calls, but he quickly notes his office will respond to every reasonable e-mail.

"Having a conversation with someone is a more personal connection," said Dwyer. "The thing that surprises me is people are surprised that I call them back. That's what I'm here for. It's an important part of being a legislator."

He credits Demers for helping him bridge the technology highway.

"Joe is the Tom Brady of legislative aides, and I mean that sincerely," he said. "He's the best, and I couldn't do what I do without him."

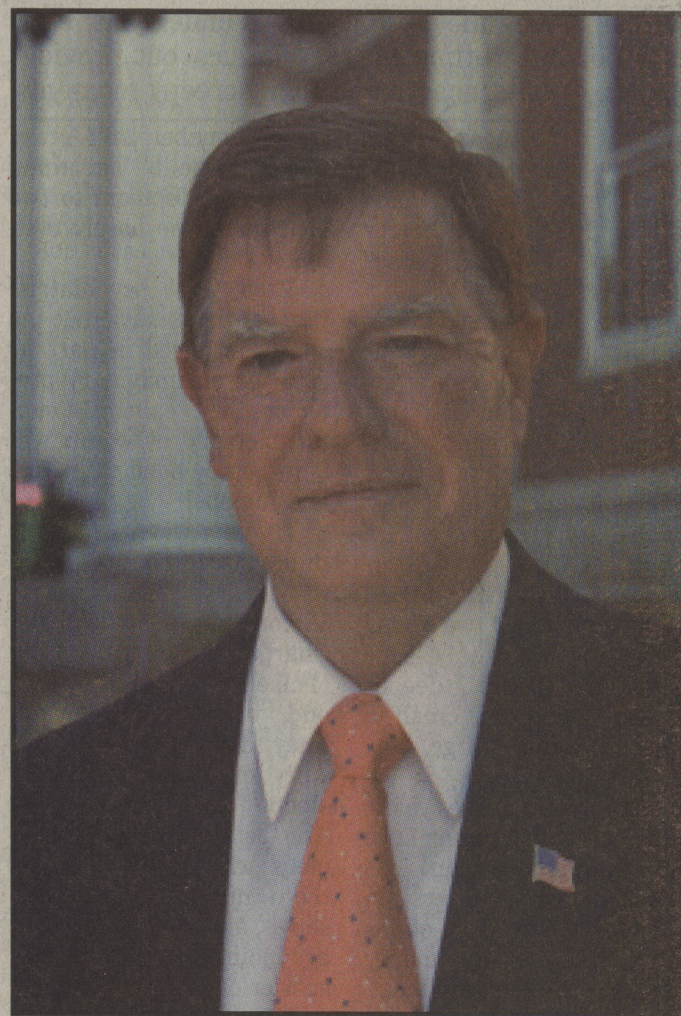

The primary topic these days is Gov. Deval Patrick's proposal announced at his state-of-the-state address last week to increase the state income tax to 6.25 percent to raise revenue for transportation and education initiatives. In turn, the state sales tax will be lowered to 4.5 percent.

Dwyer is circumspect about the income tax hike, saying the governor ought to also consider spending cuts. Since any financial measure has to emanate from the House, Patrick's proposal will receive plenty of scrutiny.

"I expect there will be some type of compromise," said Dwyer. "That's how these things work. Again, I'm going to listen to my constituents. Ten years ago, the voters wanted the income tax to go back to 5 percent, and we should listen to them. How can you ignore something that was passed on a ballot?"

Four years in, Dwyer isn't exactly a career legislator, but he's been on Beacon Hill long enough to know the routine. He said he first felt he truly belonged when he gave his first speech to his peers about ethics reform halfway through his first term.

"It's a big deal, your maiden speech," said Dwyer. "I'm not the greatest public speaker in the world, and you're up there in front of all your peers, the TV cameras and the press, so you're nervous as heck.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE
JAMES J. DWYER

"But once I got through it, I said to myself, 'It may not have been perfect, but I think I can do this job,'" he added.

At the start of the new term, Dwyer is the lead sponsor of two bills, one that will create a "bill of rights" for Massachusetts travelers, and the other with Rep. Shaunna O'Connell, R-Taunton, that will mandate prison sentences for first time child sex offenders.

The travelers' bill of rights is at least partly motivated by

Dwyer to S-4

At UCC Burlington

Evening of Jazz and Chocolate February 9

The United Church of Christ, Congregational in Burlington will hold its annual Evening of Jazz and Chocolate on Saturday, February 9 from 7 to 9 p.m. at 6 Lexington Street in Burlington.

Indulge in a sumptuous buffet of decadent chocolate desserts while enjoying the sultry sounds of jazz vocalist Lydia Harrell.

A semifinalist in the 2007 Boston Pops Popsearch, Harrell has been a frequent performer at many Boston area restaurants and jazz clubs, including the Custom House, Ume, Ryle's, Johnny D's, the House of Blues, and the Acton Jazz Cafe.

In July and August she performs weekly at the Wequassett Resort and Golf Club in Chatham. In 2012 Sony Music Latin selected Harrell to sing on a Bob Marley tribute album. On February 9, she will be accompanied by pianist Steven Higgs.

Jazz singer Lydia Harrell will perform on Saturday, February 9 at "An Evening of Jazz and Chocolate" at the UCC Church in Burlington.

Tickets for an Evening of Jazz and Chocolate can be reserved by calling 781-272-4547. The cost is $15 per person. To learn more about Lydia Harrell and hear some of her jazz renditions, visit www.lydiaharrell.com.

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

SELECT BUDGETS (READING)

The Reading Board of Selectmen has begun a series of discussions on the Fiscal Year 2014 Municipal Budget.

"The recommended municipal budget for FY'14 comes in at $19,646,181, up 2.2 percent from the FY'13 budget figure of $19,223,406," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

The following shows increases broken down by municipal department: Administration - down 2.5 percent; Accounting - down 0.2 percent; Finance - up 0.7 percent; FINCOM Reserves - no change; Community Reserves - up 1.5 percent; Library - up 1.8 percent; Public Works - up 2.1 percent; Public Safety - up 3.2 percent ....

"Town officials expect state aid will not grow from modified FY 2013 levels, though final numbers have not been released from the State House.

"The Finance Committee has authorized the use of up to $1 million in free cash to balance the FY 2014 budget. If state aid comes in higher than expected, the amount of free cash used will be reduced.

"The total FY 14 estimated revenues for general government will be $80.3 million, a three percent increase from FY'13."

TRAILWAYS (TEWKSBURY)

"Residents currently aren't singing 'Happy Trails,'" notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

But it sounds like they could be.

"Tewksbury Rail Trails (TRT), a citizen group led by Pete Miller, would like to change that. Members want to see the development of bike paths and walking trails in town.

"Miller said that he only recently became aware of a grant that would help with pedestrian and bicycle safety and appeared before Selectmen ... with Jayne Miller and Ken Leonard to garner the board's support for the grant.

"Pete told Selectmen that the grant offers a positive opportunity to examine the possibility of trail development while also working to improve safety and access to existing trails, and they agreed.

"It's a great idea. I love bicycling," said Doug Sears...

"Selectmen voted 4-0 to support the grant application...."

SOCCER, WETLANDS, AND WATERFIELDS (WINCHESTER)

"The Conservation

Commission has opened a public hearing on a proposal from the Winchester Soccer Club to create soccer fields on an 8.6-acre parcel off Cross Street," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The project includes the demolition of an existing building, site cleanup, the construction of three outdoor soccer fields and one indoor field, and the installation of stormwater management structures and associated appurtenances.

"The project falls under the jurisdiction of the Conservation Commission because the site is located next to the river and the project must comply with the state Wetlands Protection Act and the local Wetlands Bylaw. On behalf of the club, the Waterfield Design Group, Inc. (WDG) submitted a Notice of Intent (NOI) to the commission last month.

"To construct the new fields, the club proposes to purchase and combine two parcels, including 120 Cross St. (1.1 acres) and the Marotta property (7.5 acres). The club proposes to raze the building at 120 Cross St. and use that area for access and parking ...."

And so begin the hearings.

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 10-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper or look on line for up-to-date information about your city or town.

We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About the Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867 or to schooltowns@comcast.net.

Athletes & Activities

by Paul Feely

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Who has been a head coach in the NBA the most years without winning an NBA championship?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

Austin Preparatory School's winter athletic teams have selected their leaders, and these leaders will now form the school's new Winter Leadership Council.

The Winter Leadership Council, (formerly known as the Captains Council), is the first step into the evolution of a shared-leadership model. The model (known as the Student Leadership Council model) is a new method of developing leaders among students, teaching them how to work together toward a common goal using their different skills.

Although the majority of teams still use the traditional title of captain, many have now also elected assistant captains, a step toward shared leadership.

The following students have been elected by their teammates to the Winter Leadership Council:

READING
SENIOR ELLEN
BAILLIE, BOYS & GIRLS
SWIM TEAM CAPTAIN
SENIOR DANIEL
IPPOLITO, BOYS
BASKETBALL TEAM
CAPTAIN

WAKEFIELD
SENIOR JASON
CARRIER, BOYS SKI
TEAM CAPTAIN
JUNIOR NICHOLAS
MULCAHY, BOYS
BASKETBALL TEAM
CAPTAIN
SENIOR SCOTT
WORTMAN, BOYS SKI
TEAM CAPTAIN

Juniors Antoinette Toussaint (Somerville, Mass.) and Diamond Jones (Lowell, Mass.) each captured two events as the UMass Lowell women's track and field team won the Tufts Jumbo Invitational at the Gantcher Center.

UMass Lowell won five events and compiled 170.50 points to edge the host Jumbos, who placed second with 167.50 points. Bates College took third with 126 points while Worcester State (81) and Keene State (52) rounded out the top five.

The meet drew 11 NCAA Division II and III colleges.

Toussaint captured the long jump with a distance of 18 feet, 1.0 inches and provisionally qualified for the NCAA Championship. Her effort currently ranks 20th in Division II.

Toussaint also won the 600 meters in 1:38.65 and led three River Hawks in the top five places. Senior Shannon Cunningham (Foxboro, Mass.) placed second with a time of 1:39.21 while freshman Hannah Daly (Ashland, Mass.) placed fifth in 1:41.14.

Additionally, Toussaint took third in the 60 meter hurdles in 9.26 seconds. Junior Elisabeth Monty (Charlton, Mass.) captured the hurdles in 8.82 seconds while JUNIOR STEPHANIE WALKER (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) took fourth in 9.56; sophomore Stephanie Muse (Chelmsford, Mass.) fifth in 9.58 and FRESHMAN REBECCA GONSALVES-LA MONTAGNE (WOBURN, MASS.) seventh in 10.13.

Jones won the 60 meter dash in 7.83 seconds, leading three teammates among the top seven. Senior Nicole Giaquinto (Winthrop, Mass.) took third in 7.96 while Monty placed fifth in 8.03 and sophomore Taelour Murphy (Salisbury, Mass.) seventh in 8.17.

Jones also prevailed in the triple jump - her fourth title in as many meets - with a distance of 35 feet, 10.5". Sophomore Rachel Surette (Haverhill, Mass.) placed fourth with a distance of 34' 1.25" while freshman Alana Kelley (Bellingham, Mass.) placed fifth with the same distance, but on more attempts.

Kelley also took third place in the high jump as she cleared 5' 1.75" while freshman Kristie Michta (Nesconset, N.Y.) placed fifth, clearing 4' 11.75".

Junior Candace Greene (Annapolis, Md.) placed second overall in the shot put and tops among collegiate throwers with a distance of 47' 7.75" which currently ranks fourth on the NCAA Championship list. Greene placed second to former UMass Lowell standout Jacqui Barrett, who won with a throw of 47' 10.0".

Need some help with the trivia question? His initials are D.N.

Senior Eric McDonald (Groveland, Mass.) won the mile and posted the fastest time in the country this year to lead the UMass Lowell men's track and field team at the Tufts University Jumbo Invitational at the Gantcher Center.

UMass Lowell compiled 130 points and finished behind only Bates College, which won the team title with 147 points. Tufts placed third with 99 points while Worcester State (88.50) and Amherst (79) completed the top five.

The meet drew 10 NCAA Division II and III colleges.

McDonald posted a time of 4:16.09 seconds - which translates to a result of 4:12.86 on a banked track (which will be used at the NCAA Championship) - and currently sits No. 1 on the NCAA Division II list.

McDonald was one of four River Hawks in the top eight places as junior Ben Pare (Methuen, Mass.) placed fourth in 4:21.98; sophomore Aaron Martin (Nashua, N.H.) seventh in 4:27.89; and freshman Padraic Donovan (Lowell, Mass.) eighth in 4:28.57.

JUNIOR CAMERON MITCHELL (WAKEFIELD, MASS.) captured the 60 meter hurdles in 8.50 seconds and led three teammates in the top seven places. Junior Vladimir Francois (North Attleboro, Mass.) placed fifth in 8.88; junior Keith Lewis (Nashua, N.H.) sixth in 8.97; and sophomore Tyler Houldsworth (Exeter, N.H.) seventh in 9.15.

Other highlights included that of sophomore Matt Cioe (Mansfield, Mass.), who took fifth in the 3,000 meters in 8:53.53. Other highlights included that of sophomore Matt Cioe (Mansfield, Mass.), who took fifth in the 3,000 meters in 8:53.53. Additionally, junior Brian Donovan (Dracut, Mass.) took fourth in the 1,000 meters in 2:35.47, just ahead of junior Christian Kusch (Salem, Mass.), fifth in 2:35.51; and SOPHOMORE JOE DONLON (STONEHAM, MASS.), sixth in 2:35.81.

90th Birthday celebration for Ray LaMonica

Family and friends gathered at Aldersgate United Methodist Church in North Reading on January 9th to celebrate the 90th birthday of Mr. Ray LaMonica.

Ray was provided with a Yankee throne and a crown created by his niece Christine Colizzi. The event was themed as an old fashioned Methodist pot luck supper. Many guests brought delicious foods to supplement family contributions.

An especially warm and very great thanks go to Ray's daughter Jill Wilkinson and her husband Robb of Peabody and his niece Joan Devine and her husband Don of Methuen.

Joanie and Jill created delicious hors d'oeuvres, main dishes, old family Nannie's cookies, a birthday cake with Ray pictured before and after, extraordinary centerpieces and an delightful collection of framed pictures showing Ray's Mom, sister Grace, present family, and Ray's activities over the years.

Many will remember that Mr. LaMonica was our North Reading Crossing Guard at the corner by Billy Ryer's Store, at the Middle School, and at the High School. Following Ray's retirement after 18 years of service to the safety of North Reading's children, Ray received framed citations from our North Reading Selectmen and from the State of Massachusetts.

Others will remember Ray at the Little League Park umpiring baseball games. Ray umpired baseball, softball, and slow pitch for over fifty years in Lawrence, Methuen, Andover, and North Reading. "Yeah, Ray!" was printed on a special gift from his Little Leaguers. Ray was strict, but, as with his crossing guard career, Ray's primary umpiring focus was the safety and well-being of the children.

Regionally recognized musician Marcia Cutlip directed her North Reading Senior Echoes in a number of songs selected by Ray as his favorites. Ray and Bob Maciel sang a duet "Delilah", Ray soloed "That Lucky Old Sun", Joan Allen and Carolyn Costantino sang birthday songs to Ray. And, of course, we all sang "Happy Birthday". Chris Chase accompanied the musical presentations. Her husband Fred McC'd.

Ray took the microphone to thank everyone, humbly and with great sincerity. Then his wife Sara read a tribute to Ray from Rev. Dick Parker and his wife Karen.

Dwyer

from S-1

the family of Nolan Webster, a Woburn resident who died under mysterious circumstances while visiting Mexico about six years ago.

Like Melissa's Bill, Dwyer said the Child Sex Abuse Predator Prevention Act is a

"no-brainer" that will protect the public.

"It's a bi-partisan bill that I hope will have support from both sides," said Dwyer. "I always try to put myself in the shoes of the people less fortunate and do what I can do to make their lives a little easier."

"I don't know if that sounds sappy, but you need to be a people person, and you need to love what you're doing in order to do this job," he added. "And I love the city of Woburn. I really do. And I've grown to love Reading. It's a great town with great people. I'm very, very fortunate, to represent two wonderful places."

Reading Baseball School

30th annual Mini-School on Saturday, March 16 and Sunday, March 17

The Reading Baseball School is pleased to conduct its 30th annual Mini-School on Saturday, March 16 and Sunday, March 17 from 1:00 to 3:30 pm at the beautiful Hawkes Field House at Reading High School.

The purpose of the school is to provide baseball/softball players of ages 6 to 13 an opportunity to learn baseball/softball fundamentals and improve specific skills. Players will receive five hours of intensive instruction in the proper fundamentals of hitting, fielding, throwing, bunting, baserunning, pitching, catching, infield play, and outfield play. In addition, every player will be videotaped while hitting on Saturday and will view the tape, with a coach, on Sunday.

Players will be divided into small groups, by age and ability, to ensure individualized instruction. The drills presented are designed to help each youngster improve his/her skills and performance and to gain confidence. Our goal for the program is for each player to improve and to have fun.

This is a terrific opportunity for young baseball and softball players to receive expert training from an outstanding coaching staff in an excellent indoor facility, all at a modest cost. This is also a perfect time for players to sharpen their skills for the upcoming baseball/softball season and to have a weekend of fun. In twenty-nine previous years, the Reading Baseball Mini-School has been well-received, as thousands of youngsters have enjoyed the program. The Mini-School's director is Pete Moscardiello, 35-year coach at Reading High School and the staff is the same group of coaches who has led the Reading High School Baseball teams to many years of success.

You may register one or more players by completing and mailing the attached form, as described below. Enrollment is limited and we will notify you only if we cannot give you a spot. If you have any questions, please call Pete Moscardiello at 781 942-1362 or visit our website: www.readingbaseballschoo.com

Spinach Grilled Cheese

This week, encourage your child's creativity by having a Grilled Cheese Night. Perfect for using up any leftovers from the holidays, get your child excited about cooking, and eating healthy, by allowing them to prepare their own Spinach Grilled Cheese Sandwiches. Courtesy of Jen Perry, nutrition development coordinator for The Open Door Kitchen in Gloucester, MA, this recipe fun and easy to create.

Have a picky eater? Let your child choose their ingredients for their grilled cheese from a predetermined selection of ingredients. From roasted veggies and cooked meats to deli meats and assorted cheeses, and a thin layer of baby spinach for extra nutrition, your child will begin to develop a strong foundation for healthy eating habits throughout their life.

Encourage your child to try new ingredients and instill pride in a job well done with this recipe for Spinach Grilled Cheese Sandwiches.

4 slices wheat bread
4 slices cheese
4 slices deli meat, optional
4 teaspoons butter
½ cup baby spinach

Instructions

1. Butter on side of each slice of bread.
2. Heat a skillet over medium- low heat. Place one slice of bread, butter side down, in the skillet. Top with a slice of cheese, thin layer of spinach, the second slice of cheese and another slice of bread, butter side up. For a more robust sandwich add slices of deli meat.

3. Toast in the skillet until golden brown, flip and toast the other side. Cut into triangles and serve.

Difficulty: Easy

Servings: 1

Preparation Time: 5 minutes

Exercising outside of the box: Simple ways to incorporate exercise into your daily routine

Exercise is an essential element of a healthy lifestyle. When coupled with a healthy diet, exercise puts men and women on a path toward optimal health while reducing risk for a host of ailments, some of which can be deadly.

But many people find they simply don't have the time to exercise regularly. Commitments to career and family can be demanding and time-consuming, and exercise is often a casualty of a hectic schedule.

Though getting to the gym every day or even making use of exercise equipment at home on a daily basis may not be feasible, that doesn't mean people still can't find ways to incorporate a little exercise into their daily routines. The following are a few simple ways to fit more exercise into your day no matter how busy you may be.

* Avoid the elevator, and attack the stairs. The elevator may be inviting, but it's also somewhat of an enabler. Instead of taking the elevator up to your office each day, take the stairs, and take them with more gusto than you're used to. Rather than taking one step at a time, take the stairs two by two, lifting your legs high as you scale each pair of steps. This helps build your leg muscles and makes the daily climb up the staircase a little more strenuous.

* Turn TV time into treadmill time. Watching a little television at night is how many people relax and unwind, but it can be a great time to squeeze in some daily exercise as well. Opinions as to what's the best time of day to exercise vary, and no definitive study exists to suggest one time of day is better than another. People who like to relax with a little television time at night should make the most of that time by hitting the treadmill, elliptical machine or exercise bike instead of just plopping down on the couch. Add a television to your home's exercise room or purchase a gym membership where the cardiovascular machines are connected to televisions. You will still get to enjoy your favorite shows while simultaneously getting the benefit of exercise.

* Say "bon voyage" to the conference room. Professionals who spend lots of time in meetings can add a simple twist that incorporates exercise into a typical business meeting. Rather than conducting the meeting in a conference room, propose a walking meeting when possible. A walking meeting is the same as a standard business meeting, but it's conducted on foot outside of the office. Walking meetings can provide some much-needed energy for you and your fellow staff members, who may appreciate the chance to get out from behind their desks and stretch their legs while still getting work done. Take your smartphones or tablets along to jot down important ideas, just like you would in a more traditional meeting. And make the most of your walk by leaving time for some light stretching before and after the meeting. Chances are you will return to your desk reenergized and glad you found a way to get some exercise despite of a busy schedule.

* Park far away when shopping. It's tempting and almost human nature to hunt for the parking spot closest to the door when shopping at the mall or even the grocery store. But for those who want to include more exercise in their daily routines, parking far away from the entrance to your favorite store is a great way to incorporate more walking into your life. Walking is a simple yet effective cardiovascular exercise, one that the Mayo Clinic notes can lower your blood pressure and manage your weight while lowering your low-density lipoprotein, which is commonly referred to as "bad" cholesterol. In fact, research has indicated that regular, brisk walking can be just as effective at lowering a person's risk of heart attack as more vigorous exercise, including jogging. When parking far away from the entrance, just make sure you park in a well-lit area where others can easily see or hear you.

So glad the noisy holidays are over!

The holidays are over for 2012. It was nice to get together with family members. It was fun to be with the grandchildren. And, for the grandchildren it was fun to be with the grandparents. Adult children enjoyed their parents and the children opening their presents. Feasts abounded. There were conversations among relatives. Children were interrupting the conversations asking questions. There were the holiday parties at work with many co-workers. There was a lot of noise due to music being played and numerous conversations that were simultaneous.

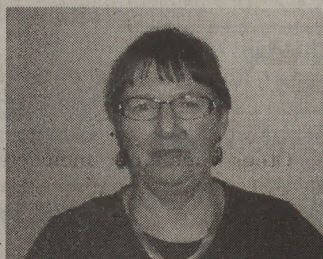

It is a relief that all the commotion is over. It was a difficult time for people who can only hear in a quiet environment, in a one-to-one situation. It was a difficult time for people who have a hard time understanding conversational speech in a noisy situation.

Hearing loss can be difficult to diagnose without a professional evaluation. Hearing loss usually occurs gradually. It usually "creeps up" on people. It usually is not an all or nothing situation.

A person usually has a more difficult time understanding speech if they have a high frequency hearing loss. A high frequency hearing loss means not hearing the consonant sounds such as the "s", "f", "th", and "p". It does not mean the person cannot hear, but usually means they have a harder time understanding conversational speech when there is background noise. The person will hear what is being said, but misunderstand what is being said. They will misinterpret the conversation.

Now it is 2013. It is time to do something about this "hearing situation" that became evident over the holidays. If you, or a loved one experienced not being able to understand conversation in a noisy place it is time to have a complete audiological evaluation. If you have never had a diagnostic hearing evaluation, it is time. Most insurance policies cover a hearing test by a licensed, certified audiologist. If your insurance requires a referral, call your primary care physician for a referral.

An audiologist is a trained professional who tests, diagnoses hearing loss, dispenses programs, and services hearing aids. Audiologists now have to earn a Doctorate in Audiology. There are audiologists in private practice. There are audiologists who work in hospitals, or for Ear, Nose and Throat physicians. You can go www.audiology.org, or www.asha.org to find a professional.

Wendy Diecidue installed as President of Women's Council of Realtors Chapter

Local Realtor Wendy Diecidue of Century 21 Starwood, 402 Main St., Wilmington was installed as the 2013 President of the Northern Region Chapter of Women's Council of Realtors in a ceremony held at The Montvale Plaza on Wednesday, December 12, 2012. The Chapter is a 69 member professional real estate group affiliated with the 19,000 member "WCR" of the National Association of Realtors. WCR is a network of successful Realtors empowering members to exercise their potential as entrepreneurs and industry leaders, and is headquartered in Chicago, IL.

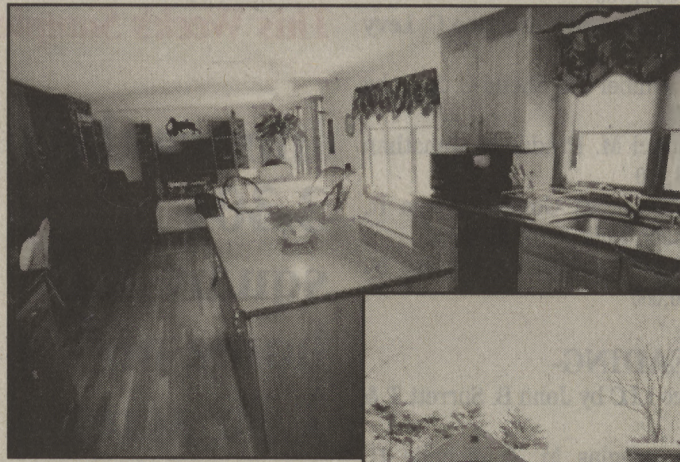

Diecidue will serve a two year term and will be responsible for overseeing administrative and educational programs regarding new laws and trends within the real estate industry. An active member in the organization for more than 5 years of her 7 year Realtor career, Wendy holds professional designations of CBR, Certified Buyer's Representative and LMC, Loss Mitigation Certified in short sale negotiations. As an associate within the 117,000 member Century 21 system, Wendy has completed many educational courses which has expanded her real estate career of listing and selling local properties.

Wendy is also very involved in community affairs and Town events, including her favorites The Recreations Departments' Horribles Parade and Concerts on the Common, as well as an active member of Wilmington Kiwanis. For more information on real estate or Wilmington town events, Wendy welcomes the opportunity to be a community resource and can be reached at 978-657-8444 x 312 or Wendy.Diecidue@Century21.com.

floors will over-joy you. Off the foyer you'll instantly notice the Master Bedroom Suite, complete with Jacuzzi and shower plus wall-to-wall carpet and boasts a makeup counter and walk-in closet with built-in organizers.

The flow of this house is what makes it so remarkable for entertaining. Open concept formal Dining Room, sunken Living Room, both very spacious & bright with windows allowing the sun to stream in. The open eat-in Kitchen features gorgeous granite countertops, hardwood cabinets and a beautiful bay window overlooking the back yard. The Kitchen opens to the Family Room with fireplace, slider to the deck, and the built-in office area with lots of cabinet space.

The first floor also has the laundry and a half bath and a door leading up to the great room over the two-car attached garage. Loads of storage in this home with two coat closets on the first floor. The second floor offers 3 additional large bedrooms, a full bath and 8 extra closets for storage.

19 Pine Glen Drive has 5 natural gas heat zones (the heat is forced hot water), 2 central air zones, the septic has passed Title V in August 2012 and is in compliance, has additional 6 off-street parking spaces, a security system, Energy Star appliances that will stay for the new homeowner, central vacuuming system, Anderson insulated doors, windows and storm doors, full basement that is partially finished having high ceilings, and so much more.

The location of this home in North Reading is a favorite as it is close to Routes 93, 128/95 and 495, plus the train station is less than 10 miles away. It is central to all of the public schools and close to several private schools and less than a mile drive to Harold Parker State Forest and all it has to offer. North Reading also provides all of your shopping needs, a golf course, country club, stables, walking/jogging/hiking trails, fishing, and sporting events. There is an active cultural presence in North Reading, as well as a vibrant Parks and Recreation program for children and families.

For more information, for a private showing of this wonderful home or to place your property for sale in today's market, call/text Listing Agent Heather LoRe, Realtor, at 978-604-6521, 978-664-2100 ext. 255 or email Heather.LoRe@Century21.com, Century 21 Spindler & O'Neil, 247 Main Street, North Reading MA 01864.

US home sales dip in Dec.; 2012 best in 5 years

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. sales of previously occupied homes dipped in December from November, in part because of a limited supply of available homes. But for all of 2012, sales rose to their highest level in five years.

The National Association of Realtors said Tuesday that sales declined in December to an annual rate of 4.94 million. That's down from a rate of 4.99 million in November, which was revised lower but was still the highest in three years.

Total sales last year increased to 4.65 million. That's 9.2 percent higher than 2011 and the most since 2007. Sales finished below the roughly 5.5 million that are consistent with a healthy market. Still, most economists say home sales are improving steadily and that the gains should continue this year.

Stable hiring, record-low mortgage rates and a tight supply of homes available for sale have helped boost sales and prices in most markets.

"We remain convinced that the housing recovery is well under way and should continue through 2013," said Dan Greenhaus, chief global strategist at BTIG, an institutional brokerage.

The market is being held back by the shrinking supply of homes for sale. The inventory of available homes on the market dropped to 1.82 million in December, the lowest in 12 years.

And first-time buyers, who are critical to a housing recovery, made up only 30 percent of sales in December. That's down slightly from a year ago and well below the 40 percent that is typical in a healthy market.

Since the housing bubble went bust six years ago, banks have adopted tighter credit standards and are requiring larger down payments. That's left many would-be buyers unable to qualify for the lowest mortgage rates on record.

The rate on the 30-year fixed mortgage averaged 3.66 percent in 2012, the lowest annual average in 65 years, according to Freddie Mac.

Sales are rising faster for more-expensive homes, the Realtors' group said. Sales of homes priced $1 million or more surged 62 percent in 2012, while sales of homes below $100,000 fell 17 percent.

Home prices rose 7.4 percent annually in November, real estate data provider CoreLogic said last week. That's the biggest annual increase since 2006, when the housing bubble burst. CoreLogic forecasts that home prices will rise 6 percent nationally this year.
